War Dept. O.K's Bridge Plans

FORMAL APPROVAL
GIVEN $200,000
HIGHWAY 2 SPAN

CONSTRUCTION WORK WILL BE-GIN THIS FALL TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT

Formal approval of plans for the new bridge to be constructed across the Mississippi river at Main street serving the new route of State Trunk Highway No. 2 and tributary highways was made by the War Department at Washington today, according to a United Press wire to The Brainerd Dispatch.

The bridge to be constructed of concrete throughout will cost approximately $200,000, the expense to be met by the State of Minnesota.

State Highway Department officials announced here that in all probability bids for construction will be advertised next month and the contract let early in November.

As a relief to unemployment, construction work on the bridge will be started this fall and will continue without delay until completion.

The tentative date for the completion of the bridge is set for September 15, 1932.

RACKETEER TELLS STORY OF DETROIT TRIPLE MURDER

NAMES ALLEGED MURDERS IN LENGTHY STATEMENT TO PROSECUTOR

Detroit, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Solly Levine, Detroit racketeer, has given police a detailed account of the triple murder of three gangsters who were lined against a wall and shot ten days ago, the Detroit Mirror said in a copyrighted story today.

Levine, according to the Mirror story, named Raymond Bernstein, Harry Kewell, Irving Milberg and Harry Fleischer, members of the Purple Gang, as the executioners who shot the luckless trio to death and escaped after tossing their guns in a bucket of green paint to erase fingerprints. Bernstein, Kewell and Milberg are held on murder charges.

Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, when questioned about the Mirror account, said he "could not deny it." He admitted he had a "lengthy statement" from Levine, but would not divulge its contents.

The three victims, Hyman Paul, Joseph Sutker and Joseph Lebowitz, were shot at a meeting which they believed to be a friendly conference, the purported statement of Levine said. Levine, according to the account, was snared, but the killers later repented their mercy and planned to kill him that same day. But five minutes before trailing gunmen were to shoot him, police saved his life by arresting him as a witness in the case.

In Death Mystery

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Dahl (above) has been identified as the writer of letters sent to Professor Elisha Kane, charged in Hampton, Va., with the death, by drowning, of his wife. Kane, who was connected with the University of Tennessee, is said to have received letters from Mrs. Dahl, who, police believe, signed her name "Betty." Authorities are seeking her.

21 Collieries Call Back 12,000 Miners

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Working orders issued here by the Lehigh Valley Coal company sent about 12,000 miners back to work today at 21 collieries.

Most of the mines have been working regularly during the summer and were closed down early this month by slackened demand.

Athens, O., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Miners of Hocking valley returned to the coal shafts today following settlement of a strike.

The men voted to return to work after addresses by United Mine Workers officials in which it was pointed out terms arranged should be accepted because of a threatening winter of unemployment.

The strike began last week when the workers objected to check weighmen employed for two mines.

ELY GROUPS CHARGE "RANK POLITICS" IN APPOINTMENT OF 8 GAME WARDENS

Ely, Minn., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Representatives of the Ely Commercial club and American Legion today charged that replacement of eight veteran employees of the state game and fish departments here was due to "rank politics."

The charges were made before the five man state conservation commission which is on tour of northern Minnesota.

Speaking for the two local organizations, A. W. Nelson, Ely attorney, said that an emergency existed and he called upon the commissioners to remedy it immediately before the district has been despoiled of game and fish. Members of the commission said all complaints would be investigated and those found correct would be rectified.

A majority of the new appointees are tenderfeet, unaccustomed with the district, inefficient and unqualified for the jobs that require them to make long trips by canoe, the commission was told. One of the new game wardens was a novice in using a compass, a prime requisite in traversing water trails in the back woods while another had done only a little paddling in a canoe in his life prior to his appointment.

"We are pioneers in building the tourist business to a point where it is now Minnesota's fourth industry," Nelson told the commission. "Last year we spent $5,000 advertising outside of Minnesota to attract visitors here. We do not mean to stand idly by and see our natural assets wrecked by a matter of political expediency."

"We have co-operated with the state since our organization 15 years ago but unless this administration sees fit to place in this district men representing the game and fish department in whom we can have confidence that spirit of friendly helpfulness will be lost."

William E. McEwen, Duluth, replied for the commission that the practice of paying political debts had been going on for years and said the present commission would correct this defect.

Defending his appointments of new game wardens, W. D. Stewart, state game and fish commissioner, who is one of the five department heads under supervision of the commission, said that changes were made only after under cover men had reported numerous violations were being permitted under the old group of wardens.

"These new men may be tenderfeet but the department deemed them worthy of a trial by reason of these many unfavorable citations against the others," Stewart said.

"It is possible to leave a man too long in a certain district and in this case we thought a drastic shakeup necessary."

Girl Killed When Struck by Machine

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Glen Crooks, 15, Bertha, was instantly killed when the automobile in which he was riding overturned in loose sand near Verndale last night.

Pilot, Who Witnesses Say Was a "Drunken Airplane Driver," Captured After Chase Through Oil Derricks

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Well, here it is, a story you've been waiting for, one about a man whom witnesses said was a "drunken airplane driver."

He appeared first over Los Angeles, zooming out of the clouds in dangerous but beautiful dives over beaches and amusement park. In flying over a lagoon, the plane wheels split the water. Witnesses gasped and ran for cover.

Army and navy planes, with police as passengers, went up to give chase, but the careening ship eluded them.

Finally the plane landed at Municipal Airport here. A deputy sheriff raced toward the plane. The pilot saw him coming and gave his ship the gun again. It wobbled into the air, zig-zagged among 1,100 derricks of the Signal Hill oil field, and crashed into a guy wire, coming down in a tangled heap. Witnesses ran to the scene expecting to find a mangled corpse.

Out of the wreckage crawled Don C. Swepton, 29, a student flier. His nose was bleeding. Otherwise, he was unhurt.

"You're under arrest as a drunken airplane driver," shouted an officer.

"O. K.," said Swepton. "I had a good time while it lasted. And you'll notice I didn't hurt anybody."

As an after thought he added, "Did I?"

GUESS AGAIN

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(UP)—They do tell me," said a man called "Dutch" to Gerald Galante, "that if you drop a lighted match into gasoline, the match will go out." Galante, who was cleaning his car and had a can of gasoline handy, tried it. "Dutch" was wrong. Both his theory and the gasoline exploded. Both men will recover.

EXAMINER BARES IRREGULARITIES IN SCHOOL AUDIT

J. C. HERBST, WILLIAM A. SYREEN CHARGED WITH OB-TAINING CONTRACTS

Charges that two members of the school board in independent school district No. 45, Crow Wing county, interested themselves in school contracts were made today at St. Paul in a report by Chief State Public Examiner A. R. Johnson.

The report followed an audit of the district's books for a four year period, ending July 17, 1931.

Johnson charged that J. C. Herbst, board member, obtained a $3,468 contract for material and supplies and that William A. Syreen, another member, obtained a similar contract for $397.

Four U. S. Steamship Directors Resign

Washington, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Four directors of the United States Lines have asked to be relieved as soon as possible, it was learned at the U. S. Shipping board today.

They are Ira A. Campbell, counsel for the American Steamship Owners' association; Robert L. Hague, vice president of the Standard Shipping Co.; E. N. Hurley, war time chairman of the Shipping board and Chicago businessman, and Franklin Mooney, president of the Atlantic Gulf & West Indies Shipping Co.

Hoover to Confer With Premier by Interpreter

Washington, Sept. 28.—(UP)—President Hoover does not intend to match his knowledge of French with that of Premier Laval who is to visit here next month.

Mr. Hoover speaks a little French. He might venture a friendly "bon jour" but for serious discussion, Mr. Hoover will use English, and presumably an interpreter.

So far as is known here, Laval does not speak English.

DEATH TOLL OVER WEEKEND MOUNTS TO 6 IN THIS AREA

THREE FORT SNELLING SOLDIERS KILLED BY ALLEGED DRUNKEN DRIVER

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Six deaths resulted from automobile accidents in the Twin City area over the weekend. Three Fort Snelling soldiers were killed by an alleged drunken driver in the worst accident in months.

The dead were: Private Henry L. Dodson, 24, Belle Plaine, Kan.; Private Lester E. Russell, 17, Spring Valley, Minn.; and Private Walter Rasmussen, Doringlund, Denmark, all killed in the Fort Snelling accident while they were searching for Dr. Andrew Stayer, 34-year-old father-in-law of Colonel J. C. McKnight, Fort Snelling physician.

Agbert Bahr, 18, St. Paul, killed when his automobile ran into a ditch on the Highway road.

Daniel Lee, St. Paul, who was killed by a hit-and-run driver near Rosemount.

Emil C. Kakuschka, St. Paul, who was injured in a head-on collision in Minneapolis.

Five soldiers were in a critical condition at the Fort as a result of the accident there and J. S. Tansey, Minneapolis, admitted in a signed statement to Fort Snelling officers that he had been drinking before his car careened into the group of soldiers.

Tansey and his companion, Oliver M. Heuring, Minneapolis, owner of the death car, were being held by St. Paul police. Charges of second or third degree murder were expected to be brought against them. Major Joseph H. Grant, provost marshal, investigated the soldiers' deaths as no inquest will be held since the accident occurred on government property.

Those critically injured included: Private Albert B. Dunlap, 19, Hutchinson, Kan., internal injuries; Private Joseph W. Adcox, 21, Bugle, Ala., possible internal injuries and fractured leg; Private Tillman O. Berg, 18, Flaxton, N. D., fractures; Private Charles S. Smith, 21, Vick, Ark., possible internal injuries and fractured leg; and Ira L. Excene, Brookfield, fractured skull.

The dead and injured were all from company F.

Dodson's body will be sent to Belle Plaine, Kan. He had been in the service three years and had a furlough next month. Russell's body will be sent to his father's home at Spring Valley, Minn., while Rasmussen probably will be buried at the post cemetery.

CHAMBER TO HOLD FIRST FALL MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

REPORTS ON SUMMER ACTIVITIES TO BE RECEIVED; WORK TO BE PLANNED

Reports of committees on work done the past year will be given and plans for fall and winter activities will be outlined at the first fall meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at 8 p. m. in its rooms in the Iron Exchange building.

Walter P. Tyrolm, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will occupy the chair. He will call for suggestions relative to a proposed program for the fall and winter.

Breaks Into Drug House in Effort to Get Serum for Niece

Detroit, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Police arrested Harold Gough of Deckerville, Mich., for attempting to break into a wholesale drug house.

At the station Gough told them his niece in Deckerville was critically ill with infantile paralysis.

Failing to arouse any officials of the company and desperate, he tried to break into the store to secure serum that might prevent paralysis or death.

Officers verified his story, and awakened a drug company official who sent Gough speeding back with the precious package.

Ex-Follies Beauty Fined $25,000 on Perjury Charge

New York, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Mrs. Evelyn Boell, former Follies beauty, pleaded guilty today to a charge of perjury growing out of the $250,000 paternity suit she filed against the estate of Joseph Moran, millionaire sportsman and former owner of the Jersey City club of the International League.

She was remanded to Queens county jail for sentence Friday. The maximum penalty for perjury is 10 years.

Mrs. Boell instituted suit against the Moran estate last July alleging that Moran was the father of her daughter, Peggy, now 14.

New Legion Chief

HOOVER ADOPTS NEW PROGRAM IN DEALING WITH DEPRESSION PROBLEMS

Washington, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Those who see President Hoover frequently believe they discern a new tendency toward more plain and direct dealing with depression problems than has characterized this administration heretofore.

He went before the American Legion and said bluntly that any additional demands on the treasury would subject the country to "grave risks." He has publicly told large organizations which are preparing to seek appropriations from congress this winter that for the good of the country they should withdraw their "pressure" on Washington—a request which practically is asking the powerful group of lobbyists here to declare a moratorium on their activities for the duration of the depression.

The American Legion proposed that President Hoover revive the war time council of national defense. He not only rejected the suggestion but at the same time covered it with ridicule. Now he is preparing so the best informed believe, to "face the music" or taxes and strike out boldly with an appeal for additional taxes on the eve of a presidential election.

All of these things have heartened many of his friends who have felt that at times he had permitted himself to be buffeted by opposing forces. For a time President Hoover was strongly under the influence of the publicity psychosis which he found so effective in the war time food administration. He started out to talk the country out of the depression with the corollary of business conferences at the White House each of which was followed by a heavy outpouring of optimistic plans and figures. The hope was that this would inspire confidence and keep the wheels turning.

While general criticism of this conduct may have increased itself on him there is reason to believe that Mr. Hoover has been to change a number of his ideas when the European crisis developed last summer. It indicated the probability that recovery would be much more gradual than the administration at one time expected.

"I'm a Propagandist for Prohibition," Dr. Wilson Declares in Continuing Attack on Legion Resolution

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Charges that he is a "professional racketeer like Al Capone" failed today to daunt Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist Episcopal church in his attack upon the American Legion's anti-prohibition resolution and national wet leaders.

"Let anyone call me anything and I won't care," said Dr. Wilson. "I maintain that the American Legion's recent convention in Detroit was a drunken orgy and that the anti-prohibition resolution was passed by soldiers who insulted their own uniforms by drinking," he continued.

"Dr. Wilson's opinion means not a thing," answered Dr. Neal Williams, of Excelsior Springs, chairman of the Legion resolutions committee. "Dr. Wilson and Al Capone are pretty much alike—both professional racketeers. Capone's racket is liquor. Wilson's racket is reform. Both are collecting," said Williams.

"I'm a propagandist for prohibition," countered the denominational leader. "Our government employed propagandists during the war to further the cause of the allies. That's what I'm doing for the dries."

Washington, Sept. 28.—Henry L. Stevens, new national commander of the American Legion, today denounced as undignified and inaccurate the charges made against members of the Legion by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, prohibition leader, after the Detroit convention had voted for a referendum on beer.

"The Detroit convention," Stevens said, "was the soberest of any which I have attended."

ACTION FOLLOWS GENERAL ORDER BY GOVERNMENT

HINT OF INDEPENDENT GOV-ERNMENT IN MANCHURIA IS REPORTED

Washington, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Official reports to the Japanese embassy today said Japanese troops had evacuated the Chinese cities of Shimintung and Thenchautung.

This action, reports from the Tokio office said, was in conformity with the government's policy of withdrawing troops from Chinese territory in Manchuria "as quickly as possible."

All but a skeleton force has been withdrawn from Kirin, the reports added. In Mukden, they said, all forces have been withdrawn except a small guard at government buildings.

Tokio, Sept. 28.—(UP)—A report was received here today that officials and leading officers of Mukden, capital of Manchuria, had telegraphed to Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the China nationalist government, and Chang Hsueh-Liang, director of Manchuria, announcing they would form an independent government.

The report was taken here to indicate that Mukden was dissatisfied with the Chinese attitude toward the invasion of Japanese troops, who hold the capital.

Chang Hsueh-Liang, who succeeded to the dictatorship on the assassination of his father, Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, is in Peking, where he recently announced a policy of non-resistance regarding the Japanese encroachment.

Shanghai, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Foreign Minister C. T. Wang was attacked and seriously injured in Nanking today by a group of students demanding war with Japan.

The attack occurred while the foreign minister was en route to his office. Students jumped on his automobile and injured him.

The students appeared to hold Wang, one of China's most accomplished diplomats, responsible for Nanking's foreign policy of appealing to the League of Nations to intervene in the Japanese occupation of Manchuria rather than opening hostilities. Chinese in Mukden, on the order of the government, offered no resistance when Japanese troops occupied the city ten days ago.

Hong Kong, Sept. 28.—(UP)—A state of emergency existed in Hong Kong today after rioting in which six Japanese and three Chinese were killed.

In declaring the existence of an emergency the government called out British troops and volunteers to aid the native police.

Trouble started here Saturday when several Japanese shops were stoned and Japanese were attacked. Placards were distributed urging attacks on Japanese at sight. The streets were not safe for pedestrians and the local police soon became unable to control the situation.

Restrain Executors From Carrying Out Wendel Will

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Temporary injunction restraining executors of the estate of the late Ella Wendel from carrying out terms of her will leaving the bulk of approximately $75,000,000 to charity was granted by Judge Julian W. Mack in federal court in New York city today, Attorney Winfield P. Jones of Atlanta announced here.

Judge Mack set for next Friday hearing on application for a permanent injunction, which if granted would pave the way for a contest of the Wendel will. Jones said. Jones is attorney for Miss Rosa Stansbery, 74, relatives of the late Miss Wendel.

NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH AS PLANES COLLIDE IN AIR

ONE PILOT WAS SLIGHTLY INJURED AND OTHER ESCAPED WITHOUT A SCRATCH

Racine, Wis., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Two pilots miraculously escaped death when their planes collided in mid-air during the Racine American Legion air races. One was injured and the other escaped without a scratch.

The ships were piloted by Steve Hanson, a former professional athlete, and P. G. Landreman, both of Racine. They were taking part in a Waco biplane race when the accident occurred.

As Landreman and Hanson rounded a water tower across from the airport, the wings of their planes collided. Landreman's ship wobbled perilously and he came down from 100 feet, barely missing the roof of the Sturtevant dehydrating plant and panicked in a field. His goggles struck the cowl and his eye was badly cut.

Hanson's plane, its left wing hanging in shreds, landed in a meadow a mile away.

Accept Christ's Belief
in Hell, Preacher Says

Exhorting his audience to believe in the teachings of Christ regarding Hell as the final abode of the wicked and unbelieving, Evangelist Louis O. Rynning scored modern theology's construction of the word Hell in his address at the Full Gospel Assembly last evening.
"Modern theology goes against the teaching of Christ in its theory on hell. Remain firm by the teachings of the Christ, accept the truth now and make preparation to escape this punishment," the evangelist said.
Rev. Rynning will preach each night except Saturday this week. Wednesday evening he will deliver his regular sermon in English and will render songs in the Scandinavian language.

Airplane Crashes
Fatal to Five Today

Roosevelt Field, L. I., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Edward DeHle, 20, and Charles Lindstrom, 21, were killed yesterday when the plane in which they were flying stalled and fell from an altitude of 200 feet.
The pilot, Stanley Bateman, 19, received a fractured skull, broken leg, and internal injuries. He got his flying license only a month ago and was piloting a rented plane.

Fonda, N. Y., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Dr. R. Bartow Read, 33, divorced husband of Hope Williams, actress, Dr. Samuel S. Ellis, 29, Buffalo, a physician, and the latter's brother, Joseph W. Ellis, Jr., were killed in an airplane crash here yesterday.
Read was piloting. Apparently he was trying to make an emergency landing when the plane crashed.
He was married to Miss Williams in 1922 and divorced a year later. He was a member of the Racquet and Tennis club and prominent socially.

BRAINERD BANKS
ISSUE NOTICE ON CANADIAN MONEY

BECAUSE OF THE WIDE DIVERGENCE OF THE MARKET, A DISCOUNT IS NECESSARY

Canadian money today was being recognized at a discount at the Brainerd banks.

In a statement signed jointly by the First National Bank and the Citizens State Bank, officials said that because of fluctuation in Canadian exchange it is necessary to charge a rate on Canadian checks or currency corresponding to the current quotation for New York exchange in Canada.

Brainerd bank officials also warned in the statement that persons use care in accepting checks or currency of Canadian issues. "First get the rate from us," is the bankers' advice.
The statement points out that as low as a ten per cent discount last Monday makes their charge necessary.

Mrs. Collings to Lead in "Pirate" Mystery Search

Huntington, L. I., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Mrs. Lillian Collings, whose husband was murdered by two "pirates" aboard his yacht in Long Island Sound, has undertaken to direct the search for clues to the murderers.

The attractive young widow expressed astonishment when she learned Suffolk county authorities had failed to search the beach of Center Island and the water nearby. This was the spot near where the elderly pirate stopped the canoe in which the marauders had kidnapped Mrs. Collings after murdering her husband, and threw overboard the contents of a duff bag.

At Mrs. Collings' suggestion the beach was searched yesterday and yielded several articles of wearing apparel thought to be that worn by the elder pirate. Two pairs of trousers, two shirts and a belt buckle were found.

Accept Christ's Belief in Hell, Preacher Says

Exhorting his audience to believe in the teachings of Christ regarding Hell as the final abode of the wicked and unbelieving, Evangelist Louis O. Rynning scored modern theology's construction of the word Hell in his address at the Full Gospel Assembly last evening.

"Modern theology goes against the teaching of Christ in its theory on hell. Remain firm by the teachings of the Christ, accept the truth now and make preparation to escape this punishment," the evangelist said.

Rev. Rynning will preach each night except Saturday this week. Wednesday evening he will deliver his regular sermon in English and will render songs in the Scandinavian language.

Airplane Crashes Fatal to Five Today

Roosevelt Field, L. I., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Edward Delbie, 20, and Charles Lindstrom, 21, were killed yesterday when the plane in which they were flying stalled and fell from an altitude of 200 feet.

The pilot, Stanley Bateman, 19, received a fractured skull, broken leg, and internal injuries. He got his flying license only a month ago and was piloting a rented plane.

Fonda, N. Y., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Dr. R. Bartow Read, 33, divorced husband of Hope Williams, actress, Dr. Samuel S. Ellis, 29, Buffalo, a physician, and the latter's brother, Joseph W. Ellis, Jr., were killed in an airplane crash here yesterday.

Read was piloting. Apparently he was trying to make an emergency landing when the plane crashed.

He was married to Miss Williams in 1922 and divorced a year later. He was a member of the Racquet and Tennis club and prominent socially.

BRAINERD BANKS ISSUE NOTICE ON CANADIAN MONEY

BECAUSE OF THE WIDE DIVERGENCE OF THE MARKET, A DISCOUNT IS NECESSARY

Canadian money today was being recognized at a discount at the Brainerd banks.

In a statement signed jointly by the First National Bank and the Citizens State Bank, officials said that because of fluctuation in Canadian exchange it is necessary to charge a rate on Canadian checks or currency corresponding to the current quotation for New York exchange in Canada.

Brainerd bank officials also warned in the statement that persons use care in accepting checks or currency of Canadian issues. "First get the rate from us," is the bankers' advice.

The statement points out that as low as a ten per cent discount last Monday makes their charge necessary.

MAY LET GRAVEL CONTRACT ON T. H. NO. 2 IN OCTOBER

GRADE LUM PARK LINK, REMAINING WORK COMPLETED

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT LOOKS TO COMPLETION OF GRADING OCTOBER 9

Grading of the 9.9 miles of new construction of State Highway No. 2 as affecting Brainerd will be completed on or about October 9, it was reported today by the State Highway Department special office here, Main Street, supervising the work.

May Begin Work This Fall
From the same source it was learned that the contract for the gravelling of the new highway may be let some time next month and work continued to its completion this fall.

Shovels and workmen were moved today to the final stretch of the grading work, that in the vicinity of Lum Park, Northeast Brainerd. The rest of the highway to the northeast of Brainerd towards Ironton has been completed. Finishing touches are being placed to the highway west of Brainerd. This work will be finished within a few days.

Push Aitkin-Deerwood Link
Although the work on the grading of the link between Deerwood and Aitkin is not within the jurisdiction of the local office, reports received here are to the effect that the work is progressing rapidly to completion.

Admits Dropping Wife's Body Into Sewer

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(UP)—John Chorak has confessed, South Chicago police said today, that he beat his wife and then dropped her blanket wrapped body in a sewer because "she was better educated than I, and was always making fun of me for my ignorance." Police said the woman was still alive when dropped into the sewer.

After eluding capture for nearly four months, Chorak was arrested in Beaver Dam, Wis., Saturday and returned to Chicago where his wife's body had been taken from a sewer on July 4. He maintained his innocence until late yesterday, Captain Thomas Wolfe, said.

Fairbanks to Make Plane Trip to S. A.

Hollywood, Sept. 28.—(UP)—In line with his announced intention to desert his heroic-dramatic-costume roles in motion pictures for travelogues, Douglas Fairbanks worked today for plans for an airplane trip around South America, filming as he goes.

Since his recent trip to India, where he made films depicting his hunting adventures, Fairbanks has given thought to his South American visit, he said today.

He was not sure that his wife, Mary Pickford, would accompany him on the projected trip.

"Miss Pickford dislikes flying," Fairbanks said, "but in the event she does not accompany me, she will join me at some South American city."

Sentenced to Death for Part in Chilean Mutiny

Valparaiso, Chile, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Alexandro Caldera, a naval sergeant, was sentenced to death by the war council today for his part in the Chilean naval mutiny. Four others were sentenced to life imprisonment and 17 to from 3 to 15 years.

A group previously sentenced to death was granted commutation and ordered sent to the penal colony on Juan Fernandez Island.

Friendship Circle to Meet With Mrs. Ericson
Members of the Friendship circle of the Methodist church will meet Tuesday evening at the church at 6 o'clock and proceed by car to the lake home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ericson where they will hold a winter roast and social time. Mrs. Ericson will be the hostess.

Round Lake Will Be Meeting Place
St. Paul's Men's Club, of the Episcopal church, will gather at the church tomorrow evening, Tuesday, Sept. 29, at 6:30 o'clock. From there they will go in cars to Joe Hebert's cottage on Round lake. Supper will be served there at 7 o'clock.

Brainerd People Attend Conclave at Upsala
The Swedish Bethany church held a Sunday school convention yesterday at Upsala, Minn. These Brainerd people attended: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson, Rev. and Mrs. P. G. Fallquist, Miss Florence Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson and John Sullivan.

Quinlen-Johnson Nuptials Celebrated
At the St. Francis parsonage this morning at 9:30 o'clock, Miss Clara A. Johnson was united in marriage to Irving J. Quinlen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James Hogan. The couple was attended by Clinton Quinlen and Miss Fanny Quinlen, brother and sister of the groom. The bride was attired in a gown of rich brown transparent velvet and shoes to match and carried a bouquet of red roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of brown flat crepe and carried a bouquet of deep red carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony a three course wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Lars Meas, 922 Fir street. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Johnson of Akeley, Minn., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Quinlen, of this city. He has been employed for the past year at a White Eagle oil station. After a short honeymoon in Wisconsin, the couple will be at home in an apartment in the Anna block.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Miss Minnie Johnson, Bemidji, sister of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Johnson of Akeley.

Shall We Keep Them?—

There is wide difference of opinion regarding independence for the Filipino people, a difference which exists not only among the Filipinos themselves but in our own nation as well. We took over the Philippine Islands as one result of the war with Spain and they have been a problem ever since. Just now many of our politicians have awakened to the fact that the duty free goods coming from the islands are a potent threat to our own farmers, hence the clamor of these gentlemen for freedom for the Filipino. "Way back when" Bryan was making his second struggle for the presidency in 1900 he heralded the independence of the Filipino as the "paramount issue," pictured McKinley and the republican party as slave drivers, told of the man on horseback and made every effort to free the serfs and incidentally elect himself to the presidency.

The voters turned down Bryan's impassioned pleas at that time by an overwhelming majority and since 1900 the islands and their government have been permitted to drift along, though nearly all offices are filled with natives and Uncle Sam frames rules of conduct which are not onerous to the little brown brother. We talked a short time since with a man who has been quite instrumental in developing transportation in the Philippines, going there as a soldier when Manila was captured and remaining there ever since. His thirty years' residence in the islands gave him a splendid insight into affairs and without any hesitation whatever he said the present government and methods should remain. This man had married a native at the end of the war, had children who were bright, well educated and active in matters pertaining to their own people and all were emphatic in their belief that government as administered now was best for all concerned. He said that politicians and agitators who sought their own advancement clamored for independence right now, but that in his own opinion the islanders were much better off under the rule of Uncle Sam.

Opposed to this view we have the opinion of our own congressman and the blasts of Borah, also. Of late the Idaho senator has been falling behind in making the front page of the newspapers and it may be another way he has of regaining what he considers his rightful position before the people of this country. Frankly we are not concerned greatly as to the disposition of the islands at this time. We know that after waging a bitter campaign in 1900 for Filipino independence Bryan and the democratic party absolutely ignored the democratic position of 1900 on this same subject in 1912-16. If island independence was so necessary in 1900 we cannot understand why it made absolutely no appeal twelve years later when a democratic administration had full sway for eight years. Our present day politicians now claim the American farmer is being ruined by imports from the islands. We do not know.

The Forgotten Man---

Under the above heading an exchange calls attention to many men in every community in a way which should cause us to study our neighbor a bit and learn for ourselves just the true worth of the unassuming citizen who may live next door, but who demands and receives little attention. Every community contains many "forgotten men" and Brainerd no doubt has its full quota. Read the article:

"The Forgotten Man" is that individual who does an honest day's work, pays his bills, brings up three or four children, indulges himself in a pipe or an occasional cigar, keeps up a small savings account, never asks for charity from anyone, never gets into trouble with the police, never makes a speech or writes a letter to the editor—in short, he's the individual who keeps going on his own momentum, good times, bad times or indifferent times.

When the hat is passed for down-and-outers, the Forgotten Man chips in his mite.

The tax gatherer visit the Forgotten Man regularly, and collects toll for the upkeep of the police courts, jails, workhouses and poorhouses—none of which the Forgotten Man ever uses. He is self-supporting, self-sufficient and self-starting, and being so he is counted in on nothing except the census. But in that document he cuts a big figure, because he probably forms the vast majority.

The Forgotten Man is the everyday, common, ordinary, plain citizen who does the best he can and makes a pretty good job of it.

He is the man you can count on in times of war or in times of peace; in times of hysterical prosperity or in times of gloomy depression; in times of Republican management or in times of Democratic management.

He's the dependable old horse—broken to harness, and he'll stand without hitching.

Remember there are millions of him, and there isn't much chance that he will ever go crazy even though the whole world around him does seem inclined that way.

When things get too bad, he'll take a hand at running them himself and you can depend upon him to do it in a sensible way.

There is no advertising medium as yet developed which can compare with the newspaper of general circulation in its immediate neighborhood. If merchants want to reach their own possible customers they must patronize the newspaper, placing their wares or whatever they have to sell visually before prospective buyers that the latter may read, remember and compare what is offered.

China and Japan are both signatory to the League of Nations, yet war is being waged between the two countries without any attempt to reconcile their differences via the world court or any appeal to friendly nations. Whenever nations believe they suffer from encroachments of any other nation quick resentment is the rule, just as it is among individuals.

The Northern Pacific railway will handle the show herds which have been on exhibit at the eastern and mid-west fairs and which now go to the west coast or intermediate points. This business is eagerly sought by the railways and the N. P. is fortunate in getting it.

The score of the drunken driver in Minneapolis Sunday was three dead and a number seriously injured. The driver calmly admitted that he had been drinking after his car had left the highway and hurtled into a group of pedestrians.

When Clown Met Prophet Levity Took a Back Seat

Though Charlie Chaplin, Mirth-Provoker, Is the Opposite of Ascetic Mahatma Gandhi, Meeting Was Marked by Deep Discussion.

MAHATMA GANDHI

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

One cannot readily reconcile the temperament of Mahatma Gandhi, India's great spiritual leader who has aroused the sympathy of the world with his indomitable fight for his country, with that of Charlie Chaplin, screen comedian, who has devoted his life to making people laugh. But when they met recently in London their interview was not marked by any of the absurdities that one would expect to arise in a debate between a prophet and a clown. LONDON, Sept. 29.—Scldom have two personalities so diametrically opposed been brought together under one roof as was recently the case in London, when the Mahatma K. Gandhi was host to Charlie Chaplin.

It was a pity that the interview was so short between the two that they had not the time to warm up conversationally and to satisfy the world's curiosity as to what the greatest patriot of the age could have in common with the age's greatest clown.

When one calls up a mental picture of India's strong man, one envisions the Mahatma in homespun loincloth and sandals, the badge of his spiritual leadership and of the poverty of the teeming millions he represents. On the other hand, we find it difficult to think of Chaplin in any other attire than the baggy trousers and floppy shoes that made him as famous, if not as influential, as Gandhi.

But for all his inimitable drooleries, Chaplin has shown himself, upon occasion, capable of deep and serious thought, therefore it is not surprising to find him taking issue with the Mahatma on such an abstruse subject as the virtues and evils of the machine age.

The two men met in the tiny home of Dr. Chuna Lal Katial, in the Limehouse district of London—a section not unknown to the comedian, who spent his early life within sound of the famous Bow Bells—and Gandhi, out of courtesy to his visitor, forsook his tra-

Halifax, N. S.—While the company which is digging into the heart of tree-studded Oak Island, in Mahone bay, guards the secret that its electric drills may be disclosing and keeps the curious away from the island where the late Captain Kidd is said to have buried boxes of treasure, another search for gold and silver is going quietly on in the three-foot walls of one of the oldest houses in Chester.

On the top of a hill, the great rambling house of the Robinson family overlooks Oak Island and Mahone bay with its 365 islands. The house has an interesting history. For somewhere in the thick walls there is said to be buried the treasure of Michael Smith, a German who was known to have quantities of Spanish doubloons and silver and species and who died without indicating where he had hidden his wealth.

Feared Looters.

Chester wasn't even a village when Michael began the erection of his 27-room house. The American Civil war was then raging and ships often put in at Chester for shelter or provisions or to seek safety from the enemy. And mostly they came in no peaceful mood. Armed men looted the hen-coops, the sheepfolds and the pig-pens, and went away with everything they could carry, so that soon the farmers got in the way of burying their money.

The great house of Michael Smith was well under way. The vast cellar, in which a company of men could have been barracked, was being cased with slate. Its walls were three feet thick. Then one morning fishermen returning in their little boats reported a sinister looking vessel at the entrance of the bay. That day Michael Smith, the wealthiest resident, discharged his workmen early. A neighbor, watching from a nearby house, saw the gleams of lantern light escaping from an uncovered window. It circled the cellar many times and at last came to rest. Then the curious one heard the clicking of a chisel against stone.

Wealthy Brothers Seek Seclusion in Monastery

Syracuse, N. Y.—On a strange quest Charles Hope Schentzer and his two brothers, Paul and William, of this city, have gone to Europe. Tired of the hectic life of the fast social whirl of the millionaire set, the brothers have decided to retire to a monastery. Thirty years ago their father was poleaxing cattle in the packing yards of Chicago. A rough old chap, he had no pretensions to society of the "boiled shirt front" clubs.

But he had ambition for his new-born son. At the time the infant was born the famous Hope Diamond was in the news, and Schentzer christened his son Charles Hope and went to England to buy the stone, which he intended to give the infant as a "christening present."

He failed, came back home, and devoted his life to his boy. Two other sons were born, and all three were given the advantage of education. A few years ago he died and left the three boys a round $15,000,000.

"Yes, we are sick of it all," Charles Schentzer says. "And we are trying to buy a monastery in Europe."

EXECUTIVES OF BOOSTERS CLUB HERE TO MEET

COMMITTEE FOR N. P. ADVANCE-
MENT MOVEMENT GATH-
ERS WEDNESDAY

Twenty-five members of the executive committee of the Northern Pacific Boosters club, representing a membership here of 1,100, will gather for an important meeting Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. in the N. P. shops office. Milo Rose is president of the club and Robert Anderson is secretary.

BURGLARS ESCAPE WEST SIDE STORE

ROB FAIRWAY GROCERY OF $12
IN MERCHANDISE; BREAK
GLASS IN DOOR

Canned goods and candy to the value of $12 were stolen from the Riverside grocery, West Brainerd, last night, A. R. Falconer, owner, reported to police today. No money was taken. The burglars entered the store by breaking the glass in the front door and unlatching the door. They escaped through the same door.

The burglars also broke the locks off the Riverside Garage and the private garage of Mr. Falconer to the rear of his store, stealing a number of tools.

Giant Dirigible Akron Begins Test Flight

Akron, O., Sept. 28.—(UP)—The U. S. Akron glided into the air at 10:40 a. m., today, less than 11 hours after she had cruised through murky skies on a night flight.

The airship's fourth voyage, as the others, was uncharted through announcement of naval officials. She rose slowly from her moorings and slid away to the northwest. The flight of uncertain length, was designed to test the ship's turning ability.

$100,000 in Diamonds Stolen From Jeweler

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Two armed bandits last night stole diamonds valued at more than $100,000 from A. Y. Boswell, jeweler.

Mrs. Boswell waited in an automobile in front of the store while her husband entered the building. When he did not return to the car, she began an investigation and discovered that he had been locked in the vault and the bandits had escaped with the jewels.

Fiddler Whose "Turkey in the Straw" Thrilled Many and Gained Him National Prominence Dies

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 28.—(UP)—"Mellie" Dunham, the farm boy who turned fiddler and gained national prominence when his "Turkey in the Straw" charmed Henry Ford, died here yesterday at the age of 78.

He was ill only a few days. Neighbors at Norway, his home, said he had grieved over the loss of the family homestead by fire this year. He saved his four fiddles from the blaze, but not much else.

"Gram" Dunham, his wife who shared with him the spotlight on the trip to Detroit to play old-time dance tunes for the automobile manufacturer, was with him at the end. He also is survived by nine grand-children. "Mellie" took up fiddling at the age of 14. He used to steal time from his farm chores to play such tunes as "Boston Fancy" and "Devil's Dream." In a few years he had given up tending the horses and cows to fiddle for a living. He played at dances for $3 a night and a bowl of chowder.

"Mellie" had a hobby—the making of snowshoes. Admiral Peary took a pair with him on his polar dash. "Mellie" gave a pair to Ford when he went to Detroit.

After playing for Ford, "Mellie" and "Gram" made a vaudeville tour that netted them $20,000.

Soviet Honors Him

George MacDowell (above), son of a Kansas farmer, received the highest award in the power of the Soviet Union when he was presented with the Order of Lenin recently in Moscow by Mikhail Kalinin, President of the Soviet Union and most distinguished Soviet peasant. MacDowell went to Russia in 1923 and has worked in Soviet factories and farms ever since. He is the first American to wear the honors of Lenin.

Grants Injunction Against State Dept.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 28.—(UP)—A temporary injunction restraining the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture and markets from enforcing provisions of its oleomargarine license law against retailers was issued today by Judge A. G. Zimmerman in circuit court.

Aluminum Firm Announces 10 Per Cent Wage Slash

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 28.—(UP)—A reduction of 10 per cent in the salaries and wages of all employees of the Aluminum Co. of America, a Mellon interest, and its subsidiaries, effective October 1, was announced today.

The action has been considered for several months, officials said, but was delayed until made necessary in the interest of economy.

Although aluminum has a diversity of uses in modern industry consumption of raw material by the industry has decreased generally officials said, and as a result the wage-cut has become necessary.

FLAVOR OF UNUSUAL COFFEE DELIGHTS THE MOST CRITICAL

Rare Goodness Results from Hills Bros.' Patented Controlled Roasting Process

Some of the world's most critical people have tasted Hills Bros. Coffee, and declared it the finest. Not only that—they continue to drink Hills Bros. Coffee. For its flavor never changes!

A remarkable roasting process is responsible for this. It is called Controlled Roasting—invented and patented by Hills Bros. As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . . a little at a time . . . so the wonderful, uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by this patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . a little at a time.

The advantage is simply this: Every berry is roasted to perfection—something bulk-roasting can't guarantee. Furthermore, the flavor never varies—something else bulk-roasting can't guarantee. But Controlled Roasting can! And Hills Bros. Coffee proves it. Every sip has the same satisfying flavor.

In order to preserve this deliciousness, Hills Bros. pack their coffee in vacuum cans. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of these cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale. Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

GRID FANS EYE NOTRE DAME-INDIANA GAME THIS WEEK

FOOTBALL WORLD AWAITS OUTCOME OF IRISH'S OPENER

THREE INTERSECTIONAL GAMES ALSO ADD INTEREST TO THE WEEKEND GAMES

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Three intersectional games and Notre Dame's first game of the 1931 season feature this week's football program in Big Ten territory.

Northwestern, co-champions of the Big Ten last year and one of the favorites for this year's title, will meet Nebraska at Evanston in one of Saturday's most important games. Pittsburgh will invade Iowa City for a game with Iowa's crippled team and Oklahoma Aggies come north to play Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Indiana, which won from Ohio U., 7-6, last week, will meet Notre Dame Saturday at Bloomington. It was the first defeat for Ohio in 20 games.

Other Big Ten teams except Chicago will see action this week. Illinois meets St. Louis U. at Urbana and Ohio State plays Cincinnati U. at Columbus. Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin open the season with doubleheaders. The Wolverines play Mt. Pleasant and Ypsilanti, the Boilermakers meet Western and Coe, and the Badgers take on Bradley and North Dakota State.

Minnesota won its two opening games from North Dakota State, 13-7, and Ripon college, 30-0. Chicago's lack of reserves resulted in the Maroons' first defeat of the season. After winning from Cornell college (Iowa), 12-0, Chicago lost to Hillsdale college (Michigan), 7-0.

LITTLE WORLD SERIES OPENS ON WEDNESDAY

ST. PAUL AND ROCHESTER TO PRACTICE TUESDAY AT LEX- INGTON PARK

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 28.—(UP)—The St. Paul American association champions and the Rochester International league pennant winners will arrive tonight to prepare for the first four games of the Little World Series.

Each team was scheduled to practice in Lexington park tomorrow with the first game to be played Wednesday. Four games will be played in St. Paul before the two teams entrain for Rochester, if necessary.

Games will be played on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, leaving Friday an open date to provide for emergency. The teams will then move to Rochester where the series will be resumed a week from tomorrow.

President Thomas J. Hickey of the American association announced that George H. Johnson and R. W. Snyder have been appointed to umpire the series while Charles H. Knapp, president of the International league, named W. J. McCormick and W. Jack Carroll as umpires.

Sale of tickets thus far has indicated that the stadium capacity of Lexington park will be taxed and extra bleachers are being constructed.

The series will be governed by a commission composed of Hickey, Knapp and M. H. Sexton, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs.

The St. Paul team ended its association season yesterday by splitting a doubleheader with Milwaukee, losing the first game 4 to 3 and winning the second 11 to 3. St. Paul's margin of victory was 14 games over Kansas City.

A. A. TEAMS SPLIT DOUBLEHEADERS TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN

CHAMPIONSHIP ST. PAUL TEAM SHARES TWIN BILL WITH THE MILWAUKEE BREWERS

By United Press
The American association season was over today, with St. Paul holding the title, and Kansas City, Indianapolis and Columbus in the best three places.

St. Paul, as befits a champion, took the last game on its schedule with the easy score of 11 to 3. Milwaukee was the victim, but the Brewers refused to end the season lying down, and lost the last game only after taking the opener of the doubleheader, 4 to 3.

Kansas City, which ended the schedule fourteen games behind the leaders and three and a half games ahead of the Indians, also split a double bill. The Blues won the first game from Minneapolis, 4 to 3, behind Holley's 7-hit pitching, but dropped the second game, 8 to 7. Ten errors were made in the two games.

No team had a clear victory on the last day, Columbus came as near it as anyone, defeating the Indians, 2 to 1, in the opener, and tying, 2 to 2, in a called nightcap.

Toledo and Louisville split the other bill, the cellars winning the first, 10 to 0, and losing the second 3 to 0. Van Gilder pitched the first shutout, with Penner of Louisville pitching the second.

Interest Turns to World Series as Major League Season Ends

American League Champions—All Smiles

Here's the first complete line-up of the Philadelphia Athletics, following their winning of the American League pennant. They are now rarin' to go in the World Series in which they will vie for the crown of the diamond with the St. Louis Cardinals. Left to right (front row): Palmisano, McNair, Fox, Walberg, Mascot

Purdue, Runner-up Last Year, Looks to Good Big Ten Season

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Purdue won its first Big Ten football championship in 1929 and the Boilermakers are expected no worse than a tie with Northwestern or Michigan, or both, this season. The three favorites do not meet.

Purdue was runner-up to Michigan and Northwestern last year, losing two of 6 games, each by one-point margins. In its last 22 games, covering more than two seasons, Purdue has not been outscored in touchdowns.

Coch Kizer, beginning his second season at Purdue, has Frank Carideo, Notre Dame's all-American quarterback, to assist him. If Carideo can teach Purdue's kickers to add the extra point after touchdowns his work will be well done. Missed goals last year allowed Michigan and Indiana to beat the Boilermakers 14-13, and 7-6, respectively.

Twenty-one letter men are back from last year's good team. Van Bibber and Buttner, tackles, Stears, Christian and Timble, guards, and Kissel and Pope, halfbacks, are the most important players who are gone.

There is plenty of material to round out a strong line despite the loss of five regulars at tackle and guard.

It is in the backfield, however, where the Boilermakers abound in strength. Eleven backs who made letters last year and several prominent sophomores are bidding for places.

Two backfields may be used. One is composed of Jack White at quarterback, Ed Risk and Jim Purvis at halfbacks, and Alex Yunevich and Roy Horstman at fullback. All are seniors except Horstman who is a junior. Risk was the leading ground gainer of the Big Ten last year, averaging 6½ yards every time he carried the ball.

The other backfield includes Paul Pardonner at quarterback, Emerson Carher and Fred Hecker at halfbacks and Kurtz, fullback. Hecker, a Texan hailed as another "Pest" Welch, is the star of this sophomore group.

In the line, Capt. Miller will be at center, Volinoff and Janecak, letter men last year, at guards, Husar and Helmer at tackles, and Moss and Calvert at ends.

Moss and Calvert, stars last year, will give the Boilermakers perhaps the best set of wings in the conference. In addition there are three other letter men for end, Moon, Montanus and Herz.

Purdue's two hardest Big Ten games come in mid-October against Illinois and Wisconsin. If the Boilermakers get safely past these two tests they are a virtual cinch to at least tie for the title.

The schedule: Oct. 3, Coe and Western Reserve; Oct. 10, Illinois; Oct. 17, Wisconsin at Madison; Oct. 24, at Carnegie Tech; Oct. 31, at Chicago; Nov. 7, Centenary; Nov. 14, Iowa; Nov. 21, at Indiana.

PASS COMBINATION ONLY BRIGHT SPOT IN WEAK GOPHER MACHINE, JONES SAYS

By PAUL M. JONES

After the departure of "Doc" Spears, President Coffman made it known that he was in full charge of athletics at Minnesota and his policy was athletics secondary; or money spent in large sums for coaches and Minnesota would build teams of character while the fourth largest University in the country could struggle on the best it could under these conditions. Saturday I went to the stadium to see the Gophers open the 1931 football season with North Dakota Aggies and Ripon, which the Minnesota teams won 13-7 and 30-0, respectively.

I am sure any other school in the country that could have turned over to a coach what I saw dressed for the Gophers would have been happy and would have disposed of their opponents in easy fashion and substituted besides but Minnesota.

After six weeks spring practice and 10 days of two drills per day since September 15th put a first team in the field that played the most miserable game I ever hope to see. The only favorable spot in the entire day's work was the forward passing and really catching them by end, Robinson, and the running of MacDougal and Champion. The unfavorable points were the lack of fundamentals of the first team.

MEN'S PIN TEAMS CLASH IN FIRST WEEK OF SCHEDULE

THREE NIGHTS OF BOWLING THIS WEEK; FOUR TEAMS START TONIGHT

Three nights of bowling are scheduled in the opening week of the men's pin league at Van's alleys starting tonight.

The schedule for this week follows: Monday—Alderman Maghan vs. N. E. Business Men; E. M. B. A. vs. Peterson Clothing.

Tuesday—Study Club vs. Lions; Brains vs. Bye Clothing.

Wednesday—Town Pump vs. Mills Motor; Mraz Candy vs. Sandwich Shop. The ladies teams playing Thursday night are: Brainerd Laundry vs. Northern States Power Co.; Russell Creamery vs. Bell Telephone.

Five State College Teams Win Openers

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Five Minnesota colleges passed the hurdle of opening games of the 1931 season without defeat.

Most impressive was Macalester college of St. Paul which defeated the Eau Claire Teachers of Eau Claire, Wis., 27 to 0. Macalester might have scored twice more except for penalties. The Macalester linemen, although outweighed, smothered every Eau Claire attempt through the line. Carleton college of Northfield continued its winning habit with an 8 to 6 victory over River Falls State Teachers college of River Falls, Wis. A blocked punt in the fourth period by Carleton gave the Northfielders a safety and the two points margin for victory.

One of the strongest Hamline University football teams in recent years defeated the St. Cloud Teachers 13 to 7. A last minute passing attack by St. Cloud threatened to tie up the game, but Hamline was able to stop the series of completed passes just with the final gun.

St. John's University won with ease and trampled St. Paul Luther 31 to 6. A St. John fumble and some good passing gave Luther its only score.

St. Mary's College of Winona outplayed Montana State at Bozeman, Mont., but had to be content with a 7 to 7 tie when the Statement pushed over a touchdown in the last quarter.

They just couldn't do a thing and do it well. What have the coaches been doing, anyway? Not much. Somers, a three year man, was afraid to catch the punts unless he had a good start on the tackler and let the ball roll which is demoralizing to any team. The officiating was mediocre but that is to be expected when real ones are not chosen.

All I can say now is with that material at Minnesota it is up to the coaches to keep us in the Big Ten fight all the way and I can well understand now why Minnesota does not get the best material of the state and if Coffman wants to curtail coaching expenses and have a poor team the state should answer his attitude by staying away from Minnesota should go a long ways this year but have lots to do if going to stand up against Stanford in two weeks.

My full idea of the Minnesota team is that as long as Coffman is president of the University the school will not have a good football team, unless the team puts in all it has and develops itself for the staff not of the caliber for real coaching needed for a Big Ten winner. I think Crisler could remedy this if left alone and allowed to work the present situation out. He is a good director but needs his say.

Youth Fatally Hurt in Football Game

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Funeral services for Roland Freer, 20, Minneapolis, will be conducted tomorrow. Freer died yesterday after being critically injured in a football game. Freer suffered a dislocated vertebra when he tackled an opponent.

ANNUAL CLASSIC TO OPEN THURSDAY IN CARDS' PARK

ATHLETICS AND CARDINALS REST AFTER CLOSING CAM- PAIGNS SUNDAY

New York, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Philadelphia's Athletics, the St. Louis Cardinals and some millions of baseball fans today flew into the calm which precedes the storm.

The Cards left Cincinnati after their closing season contest and will go through routine pre-series practices on their home lot. The Athletics finished the American league season against the Yankees and today were in Philadelphia for a rest before entraining for St. Louis Tuesday evening.

The feature of the last day was provided by Chick Hafey, outfielder for the Cardinals who managed to nose out Bill Terry of the New York Giants, for the batting championship of the National league by getting two hits out of eight times at bat. The unofficial averages gave Hafey a mark of .3489 against .3486 for Terry.

Rain cost Terry the championship. After getting one hit in the first inning of the second game against Brooklyn he withdrew from the game, knowing he was ahead of Hafey. The hit went for naught, however, when the contest was called at the end of the third inning because of darkness.

The final standings in the National league show that only two clubs, New York and Philadelphia, finished better than in 1930. The Giants moved from third to second place, while the Phillies, eighth in 1930, ended this year's play in sixth position.

In the American league New York and Boston made progress. The Yankees were third in 1930, while Boston, eighth in 1930, advanced two pegs. Yesterday's play in the American was featured by New York's 13 to 1 defeat of the world champion Philadelphia Athletics.

The Yankees slammed rove, Earnshaw and Walberg, the A's star hurlers for 20 hits. Grove, who pitched the first three innings was charged with the defeat, his fourth of the year. Lou Gehrig hit his 46th home run of the season to end the season in a tie with Babe Ruth.

St. Louis took a double header from the Chicago White Sox, 10 to 8, and 2 to 1 to beat out Boston for fifth place. Cleveland defeated Detroit, 8 to 5, and Boston defeated Washington 4 to 2.

St. Louis, National league champions, ended the season in championship style by taking both games of a double header from the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 2 and 5 to 3. Paul Derringer hung up his 18th victory in the first game.

Brooklyn's Robins took the first game of a scheduled double header from the New York Giants 1 to 3. The second game was called on account of darkness.

Philadelphia and Boston divided a double bill, Boston winning the night cap 12 to 2 after losing the opener, 5 to 3.

Chicago took both games from Pittsburgh, 3 to 1 and 8 to 4.

Green Bay Packers in Third Victory of Season

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The Green Bay Packers, twice national professional league football champions, won their third straight game of the 1931 season Sunday by defeating the Chicago Bears, 7-0. The Packers scored the only touchdown of the game when Lewellen plunged over from the 1-yard line.

A crowd of 13,000 saw the game played at Green Bay, Wis.

Crashing Into Sportlines

By HARDIN BURNLEY

ON this, the anniversary of the Argonne battle's start, the 1931 American football season gets under way with Cornell, Columbia, Southern California, Stanford and a few other notable teams in their opening games. The previous Saturday, a score or more of small colleges engaged in their first official kick-offs—four of them under night lights—and the previous Friday night a dozen others did likewise. Today a few of the so-called big teams swing into line, most of them with the traditional set-ups ready for the score-accumulating slaughter.

Most interesting item on today's schedule would seem to be the Southern California - St. Mary's game at Los Angeles. They did not play last year, out on previous occasions the great Trojan machine has had a terrible time with "Slip" Madigan's hard-bitten Saints. Those Galloping Gals will try to ride into Troy this afternoon, but J. S. C., through sheer man power at least, should unhorse 'em. California, working out with Santa Clara at Berkeley, should improve on last season's 19-7 victory.

Hard, sensational football should also feature today's contest between Stanford and the famed Olympic Club at Palo Alto. The latter team is composed chiefly of former grid stars. Stanford beat them last year, 18-0, and should repeat.

Army will warm up with Ohio Northern at West Point and should win by a score approximating the age of Capt. William Wells' horse.

Nebraska opens up with South Dakota at Lincoln and Tulane tilts with Mississippi at New Orleans. Of the seventy odd games scheduled for today most are either set-ups or of strictly local interest.

Yes, football starts like the Argonne and most other battles with mere skirmishes. Its cannonade will really begin next Saturday.

FOOTBALL WORLD AWAITS OUTCOME OF IRISH'S OPENER

THREE INTERSECTIONAL GAMES
ALSO ADD INTEREST TO THE WEEKEND GAMES

Chicago, Sept. 23.—(UP)—Three intersectional games and Notre Dame's first game of the 1931 season feature this week's football program in Big Ten territory.

Northwestern, co-champions of the Big Ten last year and one of the favorites for this year's title, will meet Nebraska at Evanston in one of Saturday's most important games. Pittsburgh will invade Iowa City for a game with Iowa's crippled team and Oklahoma Aggies come north to play Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Indiana, which won from Ohio U., 7-6, last week, will meet Notre Dame Saturday at Bloomington. It was the first defeat for Ohio in 20 games.

Other Big Ten teams except Chicago will see action this week. Illinois meets St. Louis U. at Urbana and Ohio State plays Cincinnati U. at Columbus. Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin open the season with doubleheaders. The Wolverines play Mt. Pleasant and Ypsilanti, the Boilermakers meet Western and Coe, and the Badgers take on Bradley and North Dakota State.

Minnesota won its two opening games from North Dakota State, 13-7, and Ripon college, 30-0. Chicago's lack of reserves resulted in the Maroons' first defeat of the season. After winning from Cornell college (Iowa), 12-0, Chicago lost to Hillsdale college (Michigan), 7-0.

LITTLE WORLD SERIES OPENS ON WEDNESDAY

ST. PAUL AND ROCHESTER TO PRACTICE TUESDAY AT LEXINGTON PARK

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 23.—(UP)—The St. Paul American association champions and the Rochester International league pennant winners will arrive tonight to prepare for the first four games of the Little World Series.

Each team was scheduled to practice in Lexington park tomorrow with the first game to be played Wednesday. Four games will be played in St. Paul before the two teams enroute for Rochester, if necessary.

Games will be played on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, leaving Friday an open date to provide for emergency. The teams will then move to Rochester where the series will be resumed a week from tomorrow.

President Thomas J. Hickey of the American association announced that George H. Johnson and R. W. Snyder have been appointed to umpire the series while Charles H. Knapp, president of the International league, named W. J. McCormick and W. Jack Carroll as umpires.

Sale of tickets thus far has indicated that the limited capacity of Lexington park will be taxed and extra bleachers are being constructed.

The series will be governed by a commission composed of Hickey, Knapp and M. H. Sexton, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs.

The St. Paul team ended its association season yesterday by splitting a doubleheader with Milwaukee, losing the first game 4 to 3 and winning the second 11 to 3. St. Paul's margin of victory was 14 games over Kansas City.

A. A. TEAMS SPLIT DOUBLEHEADERS TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN

CHAMPIONSHIP ST. PAUL TEAM SHARES TWIN BILL WITH THE MILWAUKEE BREWERS

By United Press
The American association season was over today, with St. Paul holding the title, and Kansas City, Indianapolis and Columbus in the best three places.

St. Paul, as befits a champion, took the last game of its schedule with the easy score of 11 to 3. Milwaukee was the victim, but the Brewers refused to end the season lying down, and lost the last game only after taking the opener of the doubleheader, 4 to 3.

Kansas City, which ended the schedule fourteen games behind the leaders and three and a half games ahead of the Indians, also split a double bill. The Blues won the first game from Minneapolis, 4 to 3, behind Holley's 7-hit pitching, but dropped the second game, 8 to 7. Ten errors were made in the two games.

No team had a clear victory on the last day. Columbus came as near it as anyone, defeating the Indians, 2 to 1, in the opener, and tying, 2 to 2, in a called nightcap.

Toledo and Louisville split the other bill, the cellars winning the first, 10 to 0, and losing the second 3 to 0. Van Gilder pitched the first shutout, with Penner of Louisville pitching the second.

Interest Turns to World Series as Major League Season Ends

American League Champions—All Smiles

Here's the first complete line-up of the Philadelphia Athletics, following their winning of the American League pennant. They are now rarin' to go in the World Series in which they will vie for the crown of the diamond with the St. Louis Cardinals. Left to right (front row): Palmisano, McNair, Foxx, Walberg, Mascot

Purdue, Runner-up Last Year, Looks to Good Big Ten Season

Chicago, Sept. 23.—(UP)—Purdue won its first Big Ten football championship in 1929 and the Boilermakers are expecting no worse than a tie with Northwestern or Michigan, or both, this season. The three favorites do not meet.

Purdue was runner-up to Michigan and Northwestern last year, losing two of 6 games, each by one-point margins. In its last 22 games, covering more than two seasons, Purdue has not been outscored in touchdowns.

Coeach Noble Kizer, beginning his second season at Purdue, has Frank Carideo, Notre Dame's all-America quarterback, to assist him. If Carideo can teach Purdue's kickers to add the extra point after touchdowns his work will be well done. Missed goals last year allowed Michigan and Indiana to beat the Boilermakers 14-13, and 7-6, respectively.

Twenty-one letter men are back from last year's good team. Van Bibber and Buttner, tackles, Stears, Christman and Timble, guards, and Kissel and Pope, halfbacks, are the most important players who are gone. There is plenty of material to round out a strong line despite the loss of five regulars at tackle and guard.

It is in the backfield, however, where the Boilermakers abound in strength. Eleven backs who made letters last year and several prominent sophomores are bidding for places.

Two backfields may be used. One is composed of Jack White at quarterback, Ed Risk and Jim Purvis at halfbacks, and Alex Yunevich and Roy Horstman at fullback. All are seniors except Horstman who is a junior. Risk was the leading ground gainer of the Big Ten last year, averaging 6½ yards every time he carried the ball.

The other backfield includes Paul Pardonner at quarterback, Emerson Carher and Fred Hecker at halfbacks and Kurtz, fullback, Hecker, a Texan hailed as another "Pest" Welch, is the star of this sophomore group.

In the line, Capt. Miller will be at center, Volinoff and Janecak, letter men last year, at guards, Husar and Helmer at tackles, and Moss and Calvert at ends.

Moss and Calvert, stars last year, will give the Boilermakers perhaps the best set of wings in the conference. In addition there are three other letter men for end, Moon, Montanus and Herz.

Purdue's two hardest Big Ten games come in mid-October against Illinois and Wisconsin. If the Boilermakers get safely past these two tests they are a virtual cinch to at least tie for the title.

The schedule: Oct. 3, Coe and Western Reserve; Oct. 10, Illinois; Oct. 17, Wisconsin at Madison; Oct. 24, at Carnegie Tech; Oct. 31, at Chicago; Nov. 7, Centenary; Nov. 14, Iowa; Nov. 21, at Indiana.

PASS COMBINATION ONLY BRIGHT SPOT IN WEAK GOPHER MACHINE, JONES SAYS

By PAUL M. JONES

After the departure of "Doc" Spears, President Coffman made it known that he was in full charge of athletics at Minnesota and his policy was athletics secondary; or money spent in large sums for coaches and Minnesota would build teams of character while the fourth largest University in the country could struggle on the best it could under these conditions. Saturday I went to the stadium to see the Gophers open the 1931 football season with North Dakota Aggies and Ripon, which the Minnesota teams won 13-7 and 30-0, respectively.

I am sure any other school in the country that could have turned over to a coach what I saw dressed for the Gophers would have been happy and would have disposed of their opponents in easy fashion and substituted besides but Minnesota.

After six weeks spring practice and 10 days of two drills per day since September 15th put a first team in the field that played the most miserable game I ever hope to see. The only favorable spot in the entire day's work was the forward passing and really catching them by end, Robinson, and the running of MacDougal and Champin. The unfavorable points were the lack of fundamentals of the first team.

MEN'S PIN TEAMS CLASH IN FIRST WEEK OF SCHEDULE

THREE NIGHTS OF BOWLING
THIS WEEK; FOUR TEAMS
START TONIGHT

Three nights of bowling are scheduled in the opening week of the men's ten pin league at Van's alleys starting tonight.

The schedule for this week follows: Monday—Alderman Maghan vs. N. E. Business Men; E. M. B. A. vs. Peterson Clothing.

Tuesday—Study Club vs. Lions; Brains vs. Bye Clothing.

Wednesday—Town Pump vs. Mills Motor; Mraz Candy vs. Sandwich Shop. The ladies teams playing Thursday night are: Brainerd Laundry vs. Northern States Power Co.; Russell Creamery vs. Bell Telephone.

Five State College Teams Win Openers

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 23.—(UP)—Five Minnesota colleges passed the hurdle of opening games of the 1931 season without defeat.

Most impressive was Macalester college of St. Paul which defeated the Eau Claire Teachers of Eau Claire, Wis., 27 to 0. Macalester might have scored twice more except for penalties. The Macalester linemen, although outwitted, smothered every Eau Claire attempt through the line.

Carleton college of Northfield continued its winning habit with an 8 to 6 victory over River Falls State Teachers college of River Falls, Wis. A blocked punt in the fourth period by Carleton gave the Northfielders a safety and the two points margin for victory.

One of the strongest Hamline University football teams in recent years defeated the St. Cloud Teachers 13 to 7. A last minute passing attack by St. Cloud threatened to tie up the game, but Hamline was able to stop the series of completed passes just with the final gun.

St. John's University won with ease and trampled St. Paul Luther 31 to 6. A St. John's fumble and some good passing gave Luther its only score.

St. Mary's College of Winona outplayed Montana State at Bozeman, Mont., but had to be content with a 7 to 7 tie when the Statemen pushed over a touchdown in the last quarter.

They just couldn't do a thing and do it well. What have the coaches been doing, anyway? Not much. Somers, a three year man, was afraid to catch the punts unless he had a good start on the tackler and let the ball roll which is demoralizing to any team. The officiating was mediocre but that is to be expected when real ones are not chosen.

All I can say now is with that material at Minnesota it is up to the coaches to keep us in the Big Ten fight all the way, and I can well understand now why Minnesota does not get the best material of the state and if Coffman wants to curtail coaching expenses and have a poor team the state should answer his attitude by staying away from Minnesota should go a long ways this year but have lots to do if going to stand up against Stanford in two weeks.

My full idea of the Minnesota team is that as long as Coffman is president of the University the school will not have a good football team, unless the team puts in all it has and develops itself for the staff not of the caliber for real coaching needed for a Big Ten winner. I think Crisler could remedy this if left alone and allowed to work the present situation out. He is a good director but needs his say.

SWEDEN, NORWAY ORDER SUSPENSION OF GOLD STANDARD

OTHER GOVERNMENTS CONSIDERING SITUATION CAUSED BY BRITAIN'S ACTION

London, Sept. 28.—(U.P.)—Suspension of the gold standard by Norway and Sweden and increased bank rates in several European countries were effective today, a week after Great Britain suspended the gold standard for six months.

The Swedish state council met at Stockholm and decided to suspend the gold standard until November 30. At the same time the bank rate was increased from six per cent to eight per cent.

At Oslo, the Norwegian state council decided to suspend the gold standard temporarily and prohibit the export of gold. The bank rate was raised from six per cent to eight per cent.

Both decisions were made Sunday during suspension of business over the weekend.

The Danish cabinet met at Copenhagen today to consider the situation. The directorate of the Stockholm stock exchange closed the exchange indefinitely.

It was decided to keep the Berlin bourse closed for an indefinite period. Other bank rate changes effective today were the Italian, raised from 5 1/2 to 7 per cent, and the Greek, raised from 9 per cent to 12 per cent.

Holland stuck by the gold standard. The Netherlands bank issued a statement at Amsterdam saying the gold standard would be maintained unconditionally and that no inflation was expected as the gold position was stronger than ever. In view of recent discussions with the Bank of England, the Netherlands bank did not expect any loss on the pound in foreign exchange bills held by the bank.

The Belgian government, in order to balance its budget, decided to reduce defense appropriations 350,000,000 francs and postpone scheduled strengthening of the eastern frontier.

Mustapha Kemal, Turkish dictator, decided to send a banking commission to the United States to seek a loan, headed by ex-Minister of Finance Saradjolov.

FORM PERMANENT FRANCO-GERMAN RELATIONS BODY

BETTER WORKING OUT OF THEIR MUTUAL PROBLEMS IS AIM OF COMMITTEE

Berlin, Sept. 28.—(U.P.)—The French and German governments have decided to establish a permanent committee for the better working out of their mutual problems. It was announced in a joint communique tonight.

The committee would be presided over alternately by a cabinet minister of one or the other country and would hold sessions alternately in France and Germany. The committee would include representatives of the different branches of business and of labor.

Berlin, Germany, Sept. 28.—Formation of a permanent committee to smooth out Franco-German relations was expected today after the French "good will" ministers' popular reception in a city resembling an armed camp.

Premier Pierre Laval and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, of France, had agreed with Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius on the formation of the committee. They were continuing their conversations today.

Laval told the press he would suggest to the German government the establishment of a Franco-German commission to investigate the economic problems of both countries.

"This may seem a modest aim, but if practical results are achieved it will serve the cause of understanding," Laval said.

"The world is thoroughly disturbed and in the throes of an economic crisis unparalleled in history," he continued. "The eyes of the world are focused on us. Now is the time to act."

President Paul von Hindenburg, leader of Germany's armies against France and her allies in the world war, received Premier Laval and Foreign Minister Briand.

It was the first time that Hindenburg had received active French statesmen and the first visit of a French premier and foreign minister to Berlin since long before the war.

It was reported here last week that France had annulled the "war criminal list" upon which Von Hindenburg and the former Kaiser had prominent places. This was denied in Paris, where Laval explained that the list had not been brought into international negotiations since 1920 but had never been annulled.

An unconfirmed report was printed in the newspaper Tageblatt today asserting that Premier Laval had telephoned Paul Claudel, French ambassador to Washington, who is now in Paris, asking him to sound out the American government on its willingness to invite Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and other German statesmen to join Laval on his visit to the United States next month.

Setting sail from Barcelona, Spain, on May 25, in a 36-foot boat, Professor Blanco Alferich, former Spanish teacher at the University of Idaho, and his wife and daughter are feared lost in the Atlantic. It is believed that the family had intended to make a world tour, but no news has been received of them since their start from the Spanish port. Top photo shows Professor Alferich, his daughter, Evala, for whom the boat was named, and Mrs. Alferich. Lower panel shows the little craft in which they braved the Atlantic.

ACTIVE PARTICIPATION OF FEDERAL, STATE AND LOCAL NECESSARY

Washington, Sept. 28.—(U.P.)—The unemployment problem this winter will require the active participation of federal, state and local governments as well as private relief agencies to meet it, Frank Bane, executive director of the American Association of Public Welfare Officials, said here today.

Bane, who is public welfare commissioner of Virginia, has set up an organization here to cooperate with the Gifford committee and to stimulate state and local activity to provide funds and jobs for the unemployed. He anticipates the most acute winter problem in the industrial area east of the Mississippi and north of Ohio rivers.

"I think most people are convinced that public building cannot be a complete answer to the problem because of the necessary delay in letting contracts," he said. "I think every one is decided that the problem this winter will require the active participation of all government and local agencies." Bane sees the problem divided into the furnishing of material aid by local and private philanthropic agencies with the state functioning to supply work relief by creating jobs for the unemployed.

BRAINERD 25 Years Ago

Sept. 28, 1906

The Misses Ethel Parker, Louise Beard, Kattie Johnson and Ethel Moberg returned from an outing at Parkville.

J. M. Elder is showing some stalks of alfalfa which go a long way to show that this forage will succeed in Crow Wing county.

Mayor O'Brien is putting a new sidewalk along the front and side of his business block at the corner of Broadway and Laurel street. This is a great improvement and the walk should be continued north to the alley.

John Gilmer went to the cities on business today.

Last evening in the presence of the relatives of the contracting parties at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stein, in East Brainerd, Miss Anna was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Fred Eckholm, a popular machinist in the N. P. shops. The bride, who is one of Brainerd's fairest daughters, looked charming in a dress of white, Parisienne mull trimmings with real lace. She wore a white velvet picture hat and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and myrtle. The maid of honor was Miss Minnie Stein. The groom was supported by Mr. George Stein. The happy couple took the early morning train for Duluth and on their return will be at home at 1308 East Oak street.

Julie Jamieson has reopened the Stratton house and will put in a first-class restaurant and lunch counter, serving hot lunches at all hours. Julia is experienced in catering to the public and as he states he will give his personal attention to the restaurant and hotel. He will undoubtedly enjoy a good business.

SWEDEN, NORWAY ORDER SUSPENSION OF GOLD STANDARD

OTHER GOVERNMENTS CONSIDERING SITUATION CAUSED BY BRITAIN'S ACTION

London, Sept. 28.—(U.P.)—Suspension of the gold standard by Norway and Sweden and increased bank rates in several European countries were effective today, a week after Great Britain suspended the gold standard for six months.

The Swedish state council met at Stockholm and decided to suspend the gold standard until November 30. At the same time the bank rate was increased from six per cent to eight per cent.

At Oslo, the Norwegian state council decided to suspend the gold standard temporarily and prohibit the export of gold. The bank rate was raised from six per cent to eight per cent.

Both decisions were made Sunday during suspension of business over the weekend.

The Danish cabinet met at Copenhagen today to consider the situation. The directorate of the Stockholm stock exchange closed the exchange indefinitely.

It was decided to keep the Berlin bourse closed for an indefinite period. Other bank rate changes effective today were the Italian, raised from 5 1/2 to 7 per cent, and the Greek, raised from 9 per cent to 12 per cent.

Holland stuck by the gold standard. The Netherlands bank issued a statement at Amsterdam saying the gold standard would be maintained unconditionally and that no inflation was expected as the gold position was stronger than ever. In view of recent discussions with the Bank of England, the Netherlands bank did not expect any loss on the pound in foreign exchange bills held by the bank.

The Belgian government, in order to balance its budget, decided to reduce defense appropriations 350,000,000 francs and postpone scheduled strengthening of the eastern frontier.

Mustapha Kemal, Turkish dictator, decided to send a banking commission to the United States to seek a loan, headed by ex-Minister of Finance Saradjolom.

FORM PERMANENT FRANCO-GERMAN RELATIONS BODY

BETTER WORKING OUT OF THEIR MUTUAL PROBLEMS IS AIM OF COMMITTEE

Berlin, Sept. 28.—(U.P.)—The French and German governments have decided to establish a permanent committee for the better working out of their mutual problems, it was announced in a joint communique tonight.

The committee would be presided over alternately by a cabinet minister of one or the other country and would hold sessions alternately in France and Germany. The committee would include representatives of the different branches of business and of labor.

Berlin, Germany, Sept. 28.—Formation of a permanent committee to smooth out Franco-German relations was expected today after the French "good will" ministers' popular reception in a city resembling an armed camp.

Premier Pierre Laval, and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, of France, had agreed with Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius on the formation of the committee. They were continuing their conversations today.

Laval told the press he would suggest to the German government the establishment of a Franco-German commission to investigate the economic problems of both countries.

"This may seem a modest aim, but if practical results are achieved it will serve the cause of understanding," Laval said.

"The world is thoroughly disturbed and in the throes of an economic crisis unparalleled in history," he continued. "The eyes of the world are focused on us. Now is the time to act."

President Paul Von Hindenburg, leader of Germany's armies against France and her allies in the world war, received Premier Laval and Foreign Minister Briand.

It was the first time that Hindenburg had received active French statesmen and the first visit of a French premier and foreign minister to Berlin since long before the war.

It was reported here last week that France had annulled the "war criminal list" upon which Von Hindenburg and the former Kaiser had prominent places. This was denied in Paris, where Laval explained that the list had not been brought into international negotiations since 1920 but had never been annulled.

An unconfirmed report was printed in the newspaper Tageblatt today asserting that Premier Laval had telephoned to Washington, where he is now in Paris, asking him to sound out the American government on its willingness to invite Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and other German statesmen to join Laval on his visit to the United States next month.

The funeral has been arranged for Tuesday afternoon.

Believed Lost in Atlantic

Setting sail from Barcelona, Spain, on May 25, in a 36-foot boat, Professor Blanco Alferich, former Spanish teacher at the University of Idaho, and his wife and daughter are feared lost in the Atlantic. It is believed that the family had intended to make a world tour, but no news has been received of them since their start from the Spanish port. Top photo shows Professor Alferich, his daughter, Evala, for whom the boat was named, and Mrs. Alferich. Lower panel shows the little craft in which they braved the Atlantic.

DEAN LAWRENCE TO LECTURE AT STATE P.T.A. MEET HERE

HAS FOR TOPIC "THE CURRENT URGE TO TRAIN FOR LEISURE," OCT. 19

A larger and more enthusiastic group of delegates than ever before is expected to attend the ninth annual convention of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers to be held here October 19, 20 and 21.

The large delegation is expected in spite of the much-mooted question of the local associations of sending delegates during a depression year.

The program Monday, October 19, has been arranged to give the delegates time for registration and an opportunity to inspect the exhibits which have been arranged under the direction of Mrs. George Cashman of St. Cloud.

The formal opening Monday will be presided over by Mrs. E. L. Baker, Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota Congress. Greetings will be extended to the delegates by H. W. Greger, mayor of Brainerd, W. C. Cobb, superintendent of schools and Mrs. T. E. Jones, 12th district chairman.

The program Monday also includes an address to be given by Dean J. C. Lawrence, Minneapolis, University of Minnesota, upon "The Current Urge to Train for Leisure." Classes of instruction will occupy a portion of the afternoon. A banquet will be served Monday night, with Dr. Gary Cleveland Meyers of the Cleveland College of Western Reserve, as the speaker.

Tuesday morning will be confined to routine business of the convention. Mrs. Baker will read the annual message and annual reports will be followed by a Parent-Teacher conference conducted by Dr. Myers.

The Gold Star dinner with Mrs. W. M. Weeks, Minneapolis, chairman of Child Welfare, presiding will be held Tuesday night. Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, Winnetka, Ill., first vice president of the National Congress, will speak at the night session upon the subject of "The Children's Chapter."

Miss Beatrice Johnstone, Grand Forks, University of North Dakota, and president of the North Dakota Congress, will bring greetings from a sister state.

Various classes of instructions will occupy the early hours of Wednesday morning. Election of officers will be held in the afternoon session. The report of the resolutions committee and reports of the district chairmen will be followed by an address by Dr. Charles E. Germane, Department of Education, University of Missouri, upon "Guidance."

All recreational sessions will be directed by B. G. Leighton, Hibbing, and E. W. Everts, St. Paul, of the state Board of Education. Groups of mother singers from all parts of the state will give accredited parent-teacher songs under the direction of their individual leaders and Mrs. W. H. MacNeil, Minneapolis, chairman of music.

HURLS CHARGE AT FEDERAL FARM BOARD IN BOOK

PREDICTS "BIGGER SCANDAL THAN TEAPOT DOME" IN "WHEAT AND POLITICS"

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 28.—(UP)—A prediction that a congressional investigation during the coming session will reveal a "bigger scandal than Teapot Dome" is made in a book called "Wheat and Politics" issued today by its author, J. W. Brinton, Minneapolis grain man.

Brinton, who has been connected with cooperative movements and farm organizations for 20 years, charges that the wheat marketing program of the Federal Farm board is in the control of three men and these men cannot be removed by the grain growers whom he claims have no representation in the organization.

Most of the charges are leveled at Samuel R. McKelvie, former wheat member of the Farm board, C. E. Huff and M. W. Thatcher of the Farmers National Grain corporation.

Brinton was one of the leaders in the McNary-Haugen equalization fee campaign. Pages of letters, facsimiles of documents and court records are reproduced in the book to substantiate the charges.

Think It Over

Prisoner Paints Desert

Scenes on Jail Walls

El Centro, Calif.—No longer will Sheriff George L. Campbell have to purchase pictures for his walls.

Capturing Charley Wrench, the sheriff incarcerated him in the county jail, where Wrench, to pass the spare time, painted scenes of the desert.

On his office wall now the sheriff has a realistic depiction of a typical desert scene with rocks, brush, hills, and ocotillo and cacti in evidence.

Wanted a Harem

Washington.—Her husband "wanted above all things else to possess a harem," Mrs. Lindsay S. Stott alleged in a petition for divorce on file "One woman was not enough for him," the petition continued, "but, because of financial restrictions, he was forced to get along by developing love affairs on the outside."

Bernt, Jr., Takes Off

Old "Doc" Stork concluded a successful one-passenger flight the other day by landing safely at the Bernt Balchen home in Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., with this chubby-faced youngster who was promptly named Bernt, Jr., by his father, the noted pilot of trans-Atlantic and Polar fame. The proud parents are shown admiring the newcomer, who, some day, it may be predicted, will be an airman as celebrated as his daddy.

BRAINERD LEGION MEMBERS PLAN TO ATTEND RALLY

SPECIAL SECTION AT IOWA-MINNESOTA GAME OCTOBER 24 RESERVED

The Iowa-Minnesota game, October 24, has been selected by the American Legion as the football rally, and a special section of the stadium is being reserved for members of that organization. Walter P. Quist, 1209 West Broadway, Minneapolis, is chairman, and to him should be directed the orders for tickets in this section.

The tickets are $2.50, with 20 cents additional per order for return postage. Mail orders must be in by October 15.

After the game the Legionnaires and their guests will have a banquet in the St. Paul hotel. The dinner tickets are $1.50, and may be ordered with the football tickets.

Some members of the Brainerd post are arranging to order their tickets together and remain in a group for the game and evening banquet.

Lewis Lohmann of St. Paul is in charge of the dinner arrangements, and the program for the evening. The state commander and state president of the auxiliary will speak, and an invitation is being extended to the new national commander of the Legion.

CRASH VICTIMS LEAVE HOSPITAL, OTHERS IMPROVE

ELDERLY MEN REMAIN FOR TREATMENT HERE; DRIVER FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

With two of the injured discharged from the hospital here and the two remaining improving, Minnesota Highway Patrol officers went ahead with plans today to prosecute Geo. P. Wedikan, Hackensack, blamed for the crash of two cars near Pine River last Friday night. Wedikan will face a charge in the Walker court this afternoon of driving while intoxicated, officers said.

The accident injured Albert Jallen, 49, Pinewood; his son, Wm. Jallen, 21, of the one car; Peter Fromback, 52, Hackensack, and his son, Owens Fromback, 22, occupants of the Wedikan vehicle.

The elderly men remain in the hospital and are rapidly improving, attendants said.

ASK MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE AS RESULT OF FATAL BEATING

WESLEY PETERS FACES SERIOUS CHARGE IN CONNECTION WITH MAN'S DEATH

Cambridge, Minn., Sept. 28.—(UP)—A first degree manslaughter indictment will be sought against Wesley Peters, 45, of Sanford township in connection with the beating to death of Stephen J. Mitchell, 61, County Attorney Harold Westin said today.

The evidence will be presented to a grand jury meeting tomorrow, Westin said. Stephen and John Peters, brothers of Wesley, are also held for questioning.

The immediate cause of death was said to have been a blow on the neck. Physicians at the coroner's inquest said Mitchell died of a hemorrhage resulting from the blow.

According to testimony of a witness to the altercation that preceded the scuffle during which Mitchell was killed an argument between Mitchell and the three Peters brothers ensued. Mitchell, it was said, insisted that the Peters brothers could not go on a proposed hunting trip until they had obtained hunting licenses.

Mitchell was survived by a son in Minneapolis.

KING GEORGE MAY ADVISE AGAINST GENERAL ELECTION

WOULD THROW COUNTRY INTO CHAOS AT DESPERATE TIME, OPPONENTS SAY

London, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The possibility that King George may advise Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald against an immediate general election gained support today.

It was believed the king would urge the present national coalition government to remain in office until the pound sterling is stabilized at a definite economic level and the worst phases of the present crisis have passed.

Such a decision would be certain to please financial quarters, the liberal newspapers, and the powerful section of the press controlled by Lord Rothermere. It is argued that an election would throw the country into chaos at a time when the financial situation is still uncertain and that it would take government leaders away from London for electioneering when they should be at work at their offices in Whitehall.

MRS. F. WITTICH, WELL KNOWN HERE, TO SPEAK AT MEET

"NEW MODES OF PUTTING CANDIDATES ON THE BALLOT" IS TEXT

The state convention of the League of Women Voters which will be held in St. Paul, October 1st, 2d and 3rd will present some high lights in political education which should not be missed by and student of government.

The international situation will be handled by Judge Florence Allen, of the Ohio state supreme court, at the luncheon on Saturday. Judge Allen is not the only woman holding such an important legal position, but she is also a forceful, logical speaker.

She made a speech on "The Outlawry of War" at one of the first national conventions of the League of Women Voters in Des Moines, Iowa, long before the Kellogg pact was thought of and President Hoover listened to that speech, as he shared the program with Judge Allen.

Another outstanding number is the Friday evening program on unemployment. Through co-operation with the University it has been possible to secure Miss Frances Perkins, industrial commissioner of New York state, to discuss the all important subject of non-employment.

Mrs. F. W. Wittich, who has spoken on league programs in Brainerd several times and who was appointed budget commissioner by Gov. Olson and now speaks with authority on matters political, will discuss "New modes of putting candidates on the ballot and in office." Mrs. Wittich always stands or more intelligent voting and believes that a simpler ballot will make for that.

An entirely new feature is the field day for local leagues which has been popular in several other states, but is now being put on for the first time in Minnesota.

Other states are said to be copying Minnesota's "Fireside Supper for Visiting Delegates," and this will be held on Thursday evening at the beautiful home of Mrs. Jane Humbird Burr. The convention meetings will be held at the Lowry hotel, St. Paul.

ONE CENT A DAY PAYS UP TO $100 A MONTH

CHAPTER LIV.

MARGARET came into the room just then.

Both men turned and looked at her, waiting.

"I telephoned Oakdale," she said, "and she's not there."

Lorrimer rose hastily.

"Would Delight see me now?"

"I think so," his mother answered. "She finished lunch. I looked in on her just now to see if she was comfortable."

Lorrimer, without another word, went upstairs. Margaret sat quite still in a big chair she'd selected, her hands in her lap. She said, urgently:

"Dan, he must be stopped. It's insanity, what he's planning to do."

Mathews said, gently:

"We've no right to interfere. And we reckon without the girl. What makes you think—?"

"Oh," said Margaret, interrupting, her voice a little raised, "as if she wouldn't! Why, she hasn't anything, and he has everything! She'll jump at the chance. Dan, you know she will!"

The Proposal.

"I'm not so sure. She was willing to go away and let things be straightened out, somehow, without her."

"We've only her word for that," said Margaret bitterly. "I—I can't understand Mary Lou, fully. Yet in a way, I can. Perhaps it's best, no matter what happens, to have things clear at last. I don't know."

"I do. It's always best," he said gently, looking at her, longing to comfort her, loving her so much and knowing himself inadequate.

Upstairs Lorrimer sat by Delight and listened to her nervous, quick recital of her adventures—covering the long years. The death of her cousins—the permanent estrangement with her parents—so Mary Lou and her conspirators had been right, after all, he thought, bitterly amused, in their fictionalized tale—her removal from London at the time she heard of his death. "Lorry, I was frantic. I cried—quarts!" she told him at that point. Her drifting on to the stage, road companies, the colonies, her engagement for the revue which came to America. "You know the rest," she said.

"Yes, I know."

He rose, stood over her, looked down. She looked pretty, in the pastel bed-jacket, the sheer nightgown Mrs. Lorrimer had lent her. Her hair, heavy and long, was fashioned on the pillows, her face seemed rounder, younger, less hard. But she did not stir him. He had no least impulse to take her hand, touch her, kiss her. He said merely, very grave, very intent:

"Will you marry me, Delight?"

Delight lay quite still against the pillows. Her face was quite impassive, save for a very slight dilation of the pupils of her tired, blue eyes.

Impassive, save for a very slight dilation of the pupils of her tired, blue eyes.

In which she saw a short pause in which she fancied she could hear her heart beating.

Safety, comfort, freedom from anxiety—all within the reach of a hand which for some years had not scrupled to take what was offered.

One Little Word.

She said finally:

"Sit down, Lorry; I want to talk to you."

Lorrimer obeyed, taking a low chintz-covered chair beside the bed. Delight looked about the room, in which everything spoke to her, mutely, of shelter.

Two courses lay open and apparent before her. She could speak one short word and life would be made quite simple for her; whatever complications might arise she could handle deftly, she could insist upon a fairly long engagement, and during that time the obstacles, known only to her and one other, could be disposed of; or she could make to Lorrimer the withheld explanation which she had been on the point of making to Mary Lou.

Which?

She turned her eyes to the man's grave face. A very attractive man, Lorrimer. Much more attractive than the boy he had been. Mature, worthwhile. Yes, very much more attractive than that forgotten boy, thought the woman who had had plenty of unsought opportunity to readjust her sense of values in the past few years. A man whom it would be quite easy to care for, to whom it would not be hard to remain faithful. Poor Delight! She had always wished to count fidelity among her natural virtues, but when emotion wore to a thin, cutting edge, and difficult times had tarnished glamour, fidelity became lost in the frantic, further search for happiness, for a little ease of soul and body, and in the driving quest for someone, something, of such paramount importance that fidelity, as a matter of course, would follow.

She said lightly:

"Such a chivalrous gesture isn't really necessary, Lorry."

"It's not a gesture, Delight," he told her.

"Yes, it is, I think. You don't know me, nor I you. We are 10, 11 years removed from that London leave. Good title for a war play, isn't it, 'London Leave'?"

She laughed a little, but her eyes remained somber.

"I was a kid then, Lorry, a rather badly brought up kid—a brat, if you like—resenting the conventions, the dull pettiness of two goodhearted but entirely commonplace spinsters, resenting the mess I thought my mother had selfishly made of her life and my own, and, therefore, welcoming the excitement, the sudden freedom of war-time—ready, too, to fall head over heels in love with the first youngster who fell in love with me. I wonder," she asked, driven to honesty by some basic craving within herself, "I wonder, Lorry, if it would have lasted?"

Lorrimer looked at her in wonder. After a moment he said:

"That is what she—Mary Lou—" he hesitated over the name, "asked me."

"When?"

"Long ago, when I thought she was—"

"Almost any clear-sighted person would ask that," Delight remarked, "given some idea of the circumstances. Look here. I only saw that girl twice, once very briefly, but I can understand, I think, what sort of a character she gave me while she was understudying me. Don't delude yourself that I'm like that, for, very probably, I'm not. And in a sense she made me up out of whole cloth, no matter what cues she had from you. She wrote her own part. For the girl you knew in London hadn't much character to speak of, either good or bad."

After a little silence she went on.

"When she came to me and pitched me the amazing yarn I thought I must be dreaming. I—I wouldn't have considered turning up again. I would have let you all get out of the entanglement as best you could if she had not told me that your mother was very much against having me produced, so to speak. That annoyed me. I would annoy anyone. I don't think, however, I had any particular designs—"

she laughed again—"on you or anyone else when I promised Mary Lou to wait a week, while she tried to persuade Mrs. Lorrimer to see what she called 'justice.' She's awfully young."

Looking Ahead.

"What an idiot you were, Lorry, not to have seen how young she is! You must have thought I'd found the fountain of youth somewhere. Well, I didn't," she interpolated. "But I came out here out of pure curiosity; I hadn't a thought of crashing the gate. Not I! It was unfortunate for you, especially, that you are so fond of nature you permit those wood paths of yours to grow hidden roots. I couldn't help turning my idiotic ankle. And that's that."

"Whether you meant to have us find you or not," said Lorrimer, "we have found you."

"If I married you, Lorry—mind you, I'm not saying I shall—I would have your mother's hostility to battle with all the rest of my life."

She saw the shadows deepen in his eyes and the sudden firmer set to his unsmiling mouth.

The Favorite of Millions—

"OUT OUR WAY"

By J. R. Williams

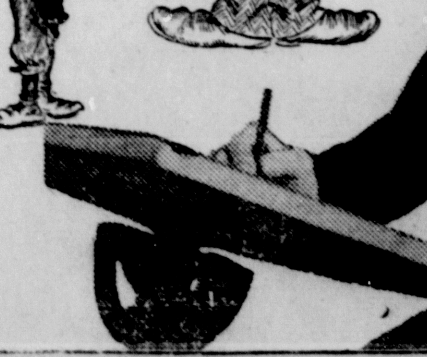

No newspaper feature yet produced can rival the universal appeal of the famous comic, "Out Our Way," by J. R. Williams.

Kids read it. Mother and Father enjoy many a reminiscent chuckle at those uncannily accurate portrayals of family life known as "Why Mothers Get Gray." Grimy men in shops and factories turn to it after a day of toil for a laugh at the "Bull of the Woods." Leather-skinned cowpunchers follow it for the adventures of Curly and his hardbitten crew. And in United States Army barracks Jim Williams' "Out Our Way" is a by-word.

All these things Jim Williams has been—cowboy, soldier, worker. A son of the soil, and a rover. And in later years an artist.

The kind of artist who is a favorite among other artists, which means that he is a great one.

His greatness lies in his naturalness, in his understanding of people who are "folks." Newspaper people call it "human interest." Call it what you will, there's nothing quite like "Out Our Way," and it appears daily in

Think It Over

In a free country, there is much clamor with little suffering; in a despotic state, there is little complaint but much suffering.

Prisoner Paints Desert Scenes on Jail Walls

El Centro, Calif.—No longer will Sheriff George L. Campbell have to purchase pictures for his walls.

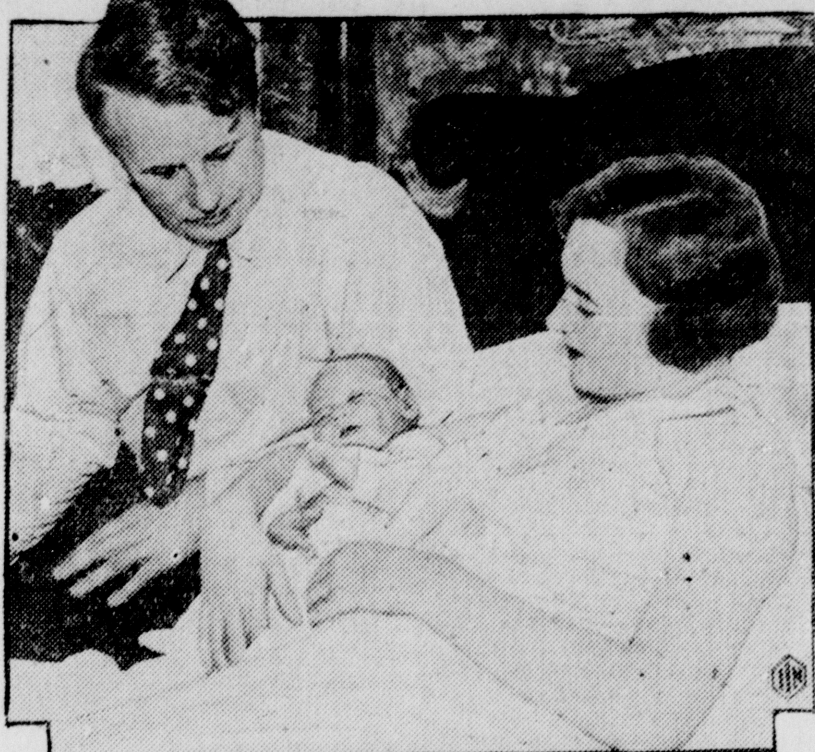

Capturing Charley Wrench, the sheriff incarcerated him in the county jail, where Wrench, to pass the spare time, painted scenes of the desert.

On his office wall now the sheriff has a realistic depiction of a typical desert scene with rocks, brush, hills, and ocotillo and cacti in evidence.

Wanted a Harem

Washington.—Her husband "wanted above all things else to possess a harem," Mrs. Lindsay S. Stott alleged in a petition for divorce on file "One woman was not enough for him," the petition continued, "but, because of financial restrictions, he was forced to get along by developing love affairs on the outside."

Bernt, Jr., Takes Off

Old "Doc" Stork concluded a successful one-passenger flight the other day by landing safely at the Bernt Balchen home in Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., with this chubby-faced youngster who was promptly named Bernt, Jr., by his father, the noted pilot of trans-Atlantic and Polar fame. The proud parents are shown admiring the newcomer, who, some day, it may be predicted, will be an airman as celebrated as his daddy.

BRAINERD LEGION MEMBERS PLAN TO ATTEND RALLY

SPECIAL SECTION AT IOWA-MINNESOTA GAME OCTOBER 24 RESERVED

The Iowa-Minnesota game, October 24, has been selected by the American Legion as the football rally, and a special section of the stadium is being reserved for members of that organization.

Walter P. Quist, 1290 West Broadway, Minneapolis, is chairman, and to him should be directed the orders for tickets in this section.

The tickets are $2.50, with 20 cents additional per order for return postage. Mail orders must be in by October 15.

After the game the Legionnaires and their guests will have a banquet in the St. Paul hotel. The dinner tickets are $1.50, and may be ordered with the football tickets.

Some members of the Brainerd post are arranging to order their tickets together and remain in a group for the game and evening banquet.

Lewis Lohmann of St. Paul is in charge of the dinner arrangements, and the program for the evening. The state commander and state president of the auxiliary will speak, and an invitation is being extended to the new national commander of the Legion.

CRASH VICTIMS LEAVE HOSPITAL, OTHERS IMPROVE

ELDERLY MEN REMAIN FOR TREATMENT HERE; DRIVER FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

With two of the injured discharged from the hospital here and the two remaining improving, Minnesota Highway Patrol officers went ahead with plans today to prosecute Geo. P. Wedikan, Hackensack, blamed for the crash of two cars near Pine River last Friday night. Wedikan will face a charge in the Walker court this afternoon of driving while intoxicated, officers said.

The accident injured Albert Jallen, 49, Pinewood; his son, Wm. Jallen, 21 of the one car; Peter Fromback, 52, Hackensack, and his son, Owens Fromback, 22, occupants of the Wedikan vehicle.

The elderly men remain in the hospital and are rapidly improving, attendants said.

ASK MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE AS RESULT OF FATAL BEATING

WESLEY PETERS FACES SERIOUS CHARGE IN CONNECTION WITH MAN'S DEATH

Cambridge, Minn., Sept. 28.—(UP)—A first degree manslaughter indictment will be sought against Wesley Peters, 45, of Sanford township in connection with the beating to death of Stephen J. Mitchell, 61, County Attorney Harold Westin said today.

The evidence will be presented to a grand jury meeting tomorrow, Westin said. Stephen and John Peters, brothers of Wesley, are also held for questioning.

The immediate cause of death was said to have been a blow on the neck. Physicians at the coroner's inquest said Mitchell died of a hemorrhage resulting from the blow.

According to testimony of a witness to the altercation, that preceded the scuffle during which Mitchell was killed an argument between Mitchell and the three Peters brothers ensued.

Mitchell, it was said, insisted that the Peters brothers could not go on a proposed hunting trip until they had obtained hunting licenses.

Mitchell was survived by a son in Minneapolis.

GETS IN LINE FOR SERIES

St. Louis, Sept. 28.—(UP)—An unemployed hotel clerk, who already has a grand stand ticket for the first world series game, was first in line at Sportsman park today for a bleacher seat.

He is Horace Enspaugh, 29, Sedalia, Mo. Enspaugh says he stands to win $200 from a home town friend who bet him he would fail to lead the line of bleacherites.

Equipped with a folding chair, blanket and raincoat, Enspaugh began his long wait at 7 a. m. He can't buy a bleacher rush seat until 8 a. m. Thursday.

KING GEORGE MAY ADVISE AGAINST GENERAL ELECTION

WOULD THROW COUNTRY INTO CHAOS AT DESPERATE TIME, OPPONENTS SAY

London, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The possibility that King George may advise Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald against an immediate general election gained support today.

It was believed the king would urge the present national coalition government to remain in office until the pound sterling is stabilized at a definite economic level and the worst phases of the present crisis have passed.

Such a decision would be certain to please financial quarters, the liberal newspapers, and the powerful section of the press controlled by Lord Rothermere. It is argued that an election would throw the country into chaos at a time when the financial situation is still uncertain and that it would take government leaders away from London for electioneering when they should be at work at their offices in Whitehall.

MRS. F. WITTICH, WELL KNOWN HERE, TO SPEAK AT MEET

"NEW MODES OF PUTTING CANDIDATES ON THE BALLOT" IS TEXT

The state convention of the League of Women Voters which will be held in St. Paul, October 1st, 2d and 3rd will present some high lights in political education which should not be missed by and student of government.

The international situation will be ably handled by Judge Florence Allen, of the Ohio state supreme court, at the luncheon on Saturday. Judge Allen is not the only woman holding such an important legal position, but she is also a forceful, logical speaker. She made a speech on "The Outlawry of War" at one of the first national conventions of the League of Women Voters in Des Moines, Iowa, long before the Kellogg pact was thought of and President Hoover listened to that speech, as he shared the program with Judge Allen.

Another outstanding number is the Friday evening program on unemployment. Through co-operation with the University it has been possible to secure Miss Frances Perkins, industrialist commissioner of New York state, to discuss the all important subject of non-employment.

Mrs. F. W. Wittich, who has spoken on league programs in Brainerd several times and who was appointed budget commissioner by Gov. Olson and now speaks with authority on matters political, will discuss "New modes of putting candidates on the ballot and in office." Mrs. Wittich always stands or more intelligent voting and believes that a simpler ballot will make for that.

An entirely new feature is the field day for local leagues which has been popular in several other states, but is now being put on for the first time in Minnesota.

Other states are said to be copying Minnesota's "Fireside Supper for Visiting Delegates," and this will be held on Thursday evening at the beautiful home of Mrs. Jane Humbird Burr. The convention meetings will be held at the Lowry hotel, St. Paul.

CHAPTER LIV.

MARGARET came into the room just then. Both men turned and looked at her, waiting.

"I telephoned Oakdale," she said, "and she's not there."

Lorrimer rose hastily. "Would Delight see me now?" "I think so," his mother answered. "She finished lunch. I looked in on her just now to see if she was comfortable."

Lorrimer, without another word, went upstairs. Margaret sat quite still in a big chair she'd selected, her hands in her lap. She said, urgently: "Dan, he must be stopped. It's insanity, what he's planning to do."

Mathews said, gently: "We've no right to interfere. And we reckon without the girl. What makes you think—?"

"Oh," said Margaret, interrupting, her voice a little raised, "as if she wouldn't! Why, she hasn't anything, and he has everything! She'll jump at the chance. Dan, you know she will!"

The Proposal.

"I'm not so sure. She was willing to go away and let things be straightened out, somehow, without her."

"We've only her word for that," said Margaret bitterly. "I—I can't understand Mary Lou, fully. Yet in a way, I can. Perhaps it's best, no matter what happens, to have things clear at last. I don't know."

"I do. It's always best," he said gently, looking at her, longing to comfort her, loving her so much and knowing himself inadequate.

Upstairs Lorrimer sat by Delight and listened to her nervous, quick recital of her adventures—covering the long years. The death of her cousins—the permanent estrangement with her parents—so Mary Lou and her conspirators had been right, after all, he thought, bitterly amused, in their fictionalized tale—her removal from London at the time she heard of his death.

"Lorry, I was frantic. I cried—quarts!" she told him at that point. Her drifting on to the stage, road companies, the colonies, her engagement for the revue which came to America. "You know the rest," she said.

"Yes, I know."

He rose, stood over her, looked down. She looked pretty, in the pastel bed-jacket, the sheer nightgown Mrs. Lorrimer had lent her. Her hair, heavy and long, was fashioned on the pillows, her face seemed rounder, younger, less hard. But she did not stir him. He had no least impulse to take her hand, touch her, kiss her. He said merely, very grave, very inarticulate:

"Will you marry me, Delight?"

Delight lay quite still against the pillows. Her face was quite impassive, save for a very slight dilation of the pupils of her tired, blue eyes. There was a short pause in which she fancied she could hear her heart beating. Safety, comfort, freedom from anxiety—all within the reach of a hand which for some years had not scrupled to take what was offered.

One Little Word.

She said finally: "Sit down, Lorry; I want to talk to you."

Lorrimer obeyed, taking a low chintz-covered chair beside the bed. Delight looked about the room, in which everything spoke to her, mutely, of shelter. Two courses lay open and apparent before her. She could speak one short word and life would be made quite simple for her; whatever complications might arise she could handle deftly, she could insist upon a fairly long engagement, and during that time the obstacles, known only to her and one other, could be disposed of; or she could make to Lorrimer the withheld explanation which she had been on the point of making to Mary Lou.

Which?

She turned her eyes to the man's grave face. A very attractive man, Lorrimer. Much more attractive than the boy he had been. Mature, worthwhile. Yes, very much more attractive than that forgotten boy, thought the woman who had had plenty of unsought opportunity to readjust her sense of values in the past few years. A man whom it would be quite easy to care for, to whom it would not be hard to remain faithful. Poor Delight! She had always wished to count fidelity among her natural virtues, but when emotion wore to a thin, cutting edge, and difficult times had tarnished glamour, fidelity became lost in the frantic, further search for happiness, for a little ease of soul and body, and in the driving quest for someone, something, of such paramount importance that fidelity, as a matter of course, would follow.

She said lightly: "Such a chivalrous gesture isn't really necessary, Lorry."

"It's not a gesture, Delight," he told her.

"Yes, it is, I think. You don't know me, nor I you. We are 10, 11 years removed from that London leave. Good title for a war play, isn't it, 'London Leave'?"

She laughed a little, but her eyes remained somber.

"I was a kid then, Lorry, a rather badly brought up kid—a brat, if you like—resenting the conventions, the dull pettiness of two goodhearted but entirely commonplace spinsters, resenting the mess I thought my mother had selfishly made of her life and my own, and, therefore, welcoming the excitement, the sudden freedom of war-time—ready, too, to fall head over heels in love with the first youngster who fell in love with me. I wonder," she asked, driven to honesty by some basic craving within herself, "I wonder, Lorry, if it would have lasted?"

Lorrimer looked at her in wonder. After a moment he said: "That is what she—Mary Lou—hesitated over the name, 'asked me.'"

"Long ago, when I thought she was—you."

"Almost any clear-sighted person would ask that," Delight remarked, "given some idea of the circumstances. Look here. I only saw that girl twice, once very briefly, but I can understand, I think, what sort of a character she gave me while she was understudying me. Don't delude yourself that I'm like that, for, very probably, I'm not. And in a sense she made me up out of whole cloth, no matter what cues she had from you. She wrote her own part. For the girl you knew in London hadn't much character to speak of, either good or bad."

After a little silence she went on. "When she came to me and pitched me that amazing yarn I thought I must be dreaming. I—I wouldn't have considered turning up again. I would have let you all get out of the entanglement as best you could if she had not told me that your mother was very much against having me produced, so to speak. That annoyed me. I would annoy anyone. I don't think, however, I had any particular designs—"

she laughed again—"on you or anyone else when I promised Mary Lou to wait a week, while she tried to persuade Mrs. Lorrimer to see what she called 'justice.' She's awfully young."

Looking Ahead.

"What an idiot you were, Lorry, not to have seen how young she is! You must have thought I'd found the fountain of youth somewhere. Well, I didn't," she interpolated. "But I came out here out of pure curiosity; I hadn't a thought of crushing the gate. Not I! It was unfortunate for you, especially, that you are so fond of nature; you permit those wood paths of yours to grow hidden roots. I couldn't help turning my idiotic ankle. And that's that."

"Whether you meant to have us find you or not," said Lorrimer, "we have found you."

"If I married you, Lorry—mind you, I'm not saying I shall—I would have your mother's hostility to battle with all the rest of my life."

She saw the shadows deepen in his eyes and the sudden firmer set to his unsmiling mouth.

The Favorite of Millions---

"OUT OUR WAY"

By J. R. Williams

No newspaper feature yet produced can rival the universal appeal of the famous comic, "Out Our Way," by J. R. Williams.

Kids read it. Mother and Father enjoy many a reminiscent chuckle at those uncannily accurate portrayals of family life known as "Why Mothers Get Gray." Grimy men in shops and factories turn to it after a day of toil for a laugh at the "Bull of the Woods." Leather-skinned cowpunchers follow it for the adventures of Curly and his hardbiten crew. And in United States Army barracks Jim Williams' "Out Our Way" is a by-word.

All these things Jim Williams has been—cowboy, soldier, worker. A son of the soil, and a rover. And in later years an artist. The kind of artist who is a favorite among other artists, which means that he is a great one.

His greatness lies in his naturalness, in his understanding of people who are "folks." Newspaper people call it "human interest." Call it what you will, there's nothing quite like "Out Our Way," and it appears daily in
